SASKATCHEWAN IS EXPECTED TO HAVE SALES TAX

New Provincial Form of Levy Foreshadowed at Opening of Legislature, With Tobacco and Other Luxuries and Number of Commodities Indicated

INCOME TAX MAY BE ENDED

Canadian Press
Regina, Nov. 15.—Sponsored by Premier J. G. Gardiner, his government at the session that opened today will introduce legislation that will bring a new form of taxation to Saskatchewan—the sales tax as a provincial measure.

Tobacco in various forms will almost certainly be subject to tax. The government, it is declared, will attempt to keep the tax as far as possible on goods commonly listed as "luxuries," but it will include a wide range of commodities.

The speech from the throne did not announce the tax. The only reference to it in the speech was contained in a statement on pending debt adjustment legislation. The reference was as follows: "This legislation may also effect the incidence of taxation. It is thought by my government that the ability of the people to pay taxes should be given greater prominence in any system maintained."

TO END INCOME TAX
The statement it is said means the government will impose a sales tax. It is also probable the government will drop the provincial income tax as a compensation.

Intention of the government to seek money loans in Great Britain was rather plainly indicated in the text of the speech from the throne. It is claimed the government, each time it sought loans in the past and made tentative inquiries in regard to the cheaper British money market, found the idea appeared to be prevalent that Britain did not care to deal with provincial governments.

Premier Gardiner is going to find out.

Exports during October, 1934, totalled $56,748,545, an increase of $2,791,297 over the preceding month and $2,617,559 over October, 1933.

Four Fishermen Swept to Their Deaths By Typhoon in Region of Philippines; Homeless Number 20,000 in Island City; Many Districts Unreported

Associated Press
Manila, P.I., Nov. 15.—Four fishermen were reported drowned off Cebu, on the island of Samar, in the first accounts of loss of life in yesterday's devastating typhoon.

Estimates placed the homeless at 20,000 in the town of Naga, a provincial capital of Luzon Island.

Manila escaped the full force of the blast, but was swept by a wind which reached a maximum of forty-eight miles an hour. Heavy rains which flooded some districts resulted in the dismissal of schools, halted shipping and brought railway service to a standstill.

The provinces hardest hit by the storm were cut off from direct communication, but meagre advice told of heavy destruction and of many missing persons.

FISHERMEN MISSING

Twenty-nine fishermen were reported missing from the village of San Jose in a dispatch to the newspaper La Vanguardia from Tacloban, Capital of Leyte province.

GERMANS URGING NEW TRADE PLAN

Associated Press
Goslar, Germany, Nov. 15.—A proposal that the London and New York money markets undertake to finance the exchange of goods between agricultural and industrial countries was made to-day by Dr. Erich Winter, German expert on agricultural treaties.

By this method, Dr. Winter asserted, the two cities would "again become important" in the distribution of credits in Europe. His statement was made in connection with the second meeting of German farmers under Nazi auspices.

If New York or London was unwilling to do this, Dr. Winter warned, then the countries in question might solve the problem between themselves.

Having extended every leniency possible to citizens who have not yet paid road and poll taxes or claimed exemption from them, city officials will proceed more stringently against delinquents, it was announced to-day.

France Considers Direct Saar Talks Not Now Possible

No Negotiations With Germany; All Action Will Be Through League, Foreign Minister States

Associated Press
Paris, Nov. 15.—Pierre Laval, Foreign Minister, to-day said the settlement of the troubled problem of the Saar basin territory by direct negotiations between France and Germany was no longer possible.

"France must act within the League of Nations," he told the foreign affairs committee of the Chamber of Deputies, indicating France would demand strict adherence to the terms of the Versailles Treaty requiring that Germany pay for the mines in the territory if the inhabitants of the Saar should vote to rejoin Germany in the plebiscite to be conducted in January.

The Foreign Minister, who formerly favored face-to-face talks with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, declared: "The hour for direct conversations is past."

The French cabinet to-day unanimously approved the plan of sending French troops into the Saar basin Territory if the League of Nations governing commission should demand their services.

Foreign Minister Laval reviewed the Saar discussion at Geneva and Paris and said France refused to dodge the responsibility placed on her by the League Council. He said France was hopeful there would be no necessity of intervention and that the Saar plebiscite in January would be conducted with the greatest calm.

The four-engine machine was bringing mail from England. What caused the crash had not been determined. The passenger was an Australian named Broadfoot.

It was the third air disaster within recent weeks in Australia, none of which has been explained.

A big plane crashed in Queensland in October, and the pilot and two passengers were burned to death. Another plane, with two pilots and ten passengers, disappeared while over Bass Strait.

Government Marks First Anniversary

Might Have Adopted "More Spectacular Course," But Chose "Path of Prudence," Says Premier Pattullo; Believes Satisfactory Progress Made

On completing his first year in office to-day, Premier Pattullo said that, considering conditions, he believed satisfactory progress had been made in the twelve months since his administration took over the reins in British Columbia.

The Premier, in a brief formal statement, referred generally to the government's activities during the year and said he thought it had chosen a path of prudence rather than a more spectacular course.

His statement follows: "The government has been in office for one year. Considering conditions I believe the very satisfactory progress has been made."

"There are those who complain because they are not able to see some physical construction, such as for example, as hard surfacing of the main arteries of the province. The fact is, however, that splendid progress has been made just the same."

"On assuming office our government found that the financial condition of the province had undergone decided change and that the financial position of the province and that of the Dominion were interwoven as had not been the case until the depression."

"Our government chose to co-operate with Dominion authority, particularly as we believed that general conditions were working to force consideration of questions that will establish better foundation for the respective jurisdictions of the provinces and the Dominion. Of course we could have adopted a more spectacular course, but I think we chose the path of prudence."

"The year has been a busy one. There have been no less than three sessions of the Legislature."

COLUMBIA MEN STUDENTS KNIT

Canadian Press
New York, Nov. 15.—A group of Columbia University students, all young men, petitioned Dean Herbert Hawkes for permission to form a knitting club to be known as the Knit-Naps-Nu.

DEADLOCK IN RELIEF TIE-UP

Mounted Police Ready in Calgary as Strike of Married Workers Goes on

Canadian Press
Calgary, Nov. 15.—Three thousand unemployed married men remained on strike here to-day in protest against a slash in civic relief allowances, while a special committee of the City Council continued its investigation of the present rates.

Both strike leaders and civic authorities were slight, refusing to discuss the situation, and the strikers declined to confirm reports they planned a demonstration. A special mounted detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, called in from rural districts, was in barracks here to-day, their horses stabled in a downtown car barn. Authorities explained the R.C.M.P. men had been brought here as a precautionary measure when reports of a mass demonstration of strikers were brought to the attention of civic officials.

The strikers, who last week refused to work on civic jobs assigned them, are demanding restoration of the old relief schedule in effect before November 1, and payment in cash.

"Absolutely," agreed the auditor, "the wage adjustments were as follows: A delivery boy in Walkerton, Ont., had his wages increased from $3 to $5.50, and two boys in Uxbridge, Ont., and Fergus, Ont., from $2.50 to $5. A delivery boy in Windsor, Ont., receiving $8 a week was found to be a married man, and was promoted to a clerk's job at $15 a week. A Stratford delivery boy also was found to be married and was increased from $10 to $15 a week. Two Toronto delivery boys receiving $4 a week had their hours cut from 60 1/2 to 38 1/2 and 40 1/2."

WOULD BROADEN INQUIRY
Sam Factor, Liberal, Toronto West Centre, said low wages for delivery boys were one of the causes of chain stores. He said he had received information about wages paid by the C.P.R. and C.N.R. to delivery boys, and it revealed "shocking wages."

"I think we should investigate that as well," the Toronto member added. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Appeal Court Test On Securities Act

The Attorney-General's department to-day was prepared for a test of the scope of the B.C. Securities Act before the Court of Appeal when it was indicated an appeal would be taken in the case of the Wayside Mines inquiry injunction.

This injunction was dissolved by the Supreme Court after hearing, and the company proposes to appeal, it is understood.

Feeling that a decision of the points at issue dealing with procedure of the inquiry is important as affecting future cases under the act, the department felt that effort should be made to have it made at the present session of the Court of Appeal.

Wage and Working Hour Readjustment Still in Progress in Dominion Stores' Ltd. in Great Lakes Region, Auditor States at Inquiry Session at Ottawa

MANY FIGURES GIVEN IN REPORT

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 15.—Wage adjustments to delivery boys and clerks employed by Dominion Stores Limited in Ontario were made last March, the Mass Buying Commission was told to-day by W. R. Kay of Toronto, its investigating auditor.

The adjustments resulted in higher wages in some cases and reduced hours in others.

The head office of Dominion Stores Limited sent a questionnaire to all store managers on March 15, 1934, seeking information on wages, hours and conditions of labor. Up to that time, said the auditor, the head office had practically no records on individual clerks.

"The answers to the questionnaire," Mr. Kay said, "revealed many cases in which the management required additional information, and a great deal of investigation and correspondence ensued. We are informed this work has not been completed."

The Dominion Stores' head office sent out the questionnaire a few days before the auditors began to examine their books, he said.

AFTER COMMITTEE NAMED
"But the wage increases were put into effect after this commission was set up," commented Alex M. Edwards, Conservative M.P. for South Waterloo, Ont.

Examples of wage adjustments were as follows: A delivery boy in Walkerton, Ont., had his wages increased from $3 to $5.50, and two boys in Uxbridge, Ont., and Fergus, Ont., from $2.50 to $5. A delivery boy in Windsor, Ont., receiving $8 a week was found to be a married man, and was promoted to a clerk's job at $15 a week. Will Grant Parity
Only In PrincipleBritain Would Refuse to Agree to Actual Naval Tonnage Equality For Japan

London, Nov. 15.—Great Britain let it be known to-day that if Japan rejects her proposal for naval equality "in principle," she will not grant Japan equality in the actual tonnage of their fighting craft.

This indication, from an authoritative source, was contained in a statement that Great Britain still seeks a method of approaching a compromise on the difficult question of a new naval treaty, but that she ## will not go beyond the recognition of equality in principle for Japan.

This decision was made independently by Great Britain some time ago, and has nothing to do with any agreement with the Japanese. Both sides of the conversation said officially that reports Great Britain and the United States were considering an agreement were entirely false. Both delegations said they wished the situation was near the agreement stage, but that actually the three powers were just as far from an agreement as they ever been.

German Cargoes
Land in Ireland

Dublin, Nov. 15.—President de Valera smilingly declined to comment to-day on the statement in London of Prof. John Morgan that German cargoes were being secretly landed in Irish ports, except to say he would be glad to learn where they are being brought ashore.

Other government officials said they had no knowledge of such cargoes.

Morgan, professor of constitutional law at London University, said he would leave them to guess what the shipments were.

Australia-New Zealand
Defence-trade TalksWage Adjustments
During Federal Inquiry

"At the present time we are investigating chain stores," interjected Chairman W. W. Kennedy.

A few minutes later, Mr. Factor said the commission had no evidence concerning wages paid by independent merchants to delivery boys, and "I think we should get evidence on that phase."

"There will be evidence on that," I understand," said Hon. H. H. Stevens.

Women grocery clerks of Dominion Stores Limited in Ontario received higher wages and work less hours than men clerks, the commission learned.

CUT IN RATES
CAUSES ALARM

In a statement issued to-day by J. H. Hamilton, secretary of the exchange, existing rates are compared, showing the rate for the 1-116 miles from Port McNicoll, Ont., to Halifax, is 5 cents a bushel, while the rate from Regina to Vancouver, 1,108 miles, is 15.6 cents a bushel, and the rate from Calgary to Vancouver, only 941 miles, is 18 cents a bushel.

The exchange has applied for immediate consideration of equivalent reduction of export grain rates to Vancouver as United States and Canadian Atlantic ports are as Halifax and St. John, and consequently should be granted similar reduction.

The exchange claimed many investments, including large Dominion government interests in harbor facilities here, were seriously jeopardized.

"The deleterious effect of this east-bound competition, owing to discrimination in rates, is far reaching," the statement continues, "and will have its effect on all British Columbia exports."

We maintain, and are prepared to prove, that as a competitive United States Atlantic ports as are Halifax and St. John, and consequently should be granted similar reduction.

The exchange claimed many investments, including large Dominion government interests in harbor facilities here, were seriously jeopardized.

"The deleterious effect of this east-bound competition, owing to discrimination in rates, is far reaching," the statement continues, "and will have its effect on all British Columbia exports."

Reduction of Grain Freight in East Protested in Vancouver

Vancouver, Nov. 15.—Vancouver grain interests are alarmed over the reduction in grain freight rates from Georgian Bay ports in Ontario to St. John and Halifax from a normal level of 9 cents a bushel to 5 cents a bushel during the winter months, and the Vancouver Grain Exchange has protested to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and to the Board of Railway Commissioners.

In the Montreal division 111 stores out of 229 operated at a profit and 110 had a loss, the witness said.

On the matter of wages, Mr. Key said that in the Toronto division the average wage of 277 store managers was $37.77 for a sixty-one-hour week. Some were paid as low as $14 a week, plus 1 per cent of weekly sales. Three managers received an average of $18.67 a week. The wage of forty-three meat managers was $27.10, while twenty-three received an average of $24.55.

The witness continued that 194 grocery clerks were paid an average ranging from $5 to $25, or an average of $10.69, and 110 female clerks got from $7.50 to $15, or an average of $10.69 for a forty-eight-hour week.

Meat clerks numbering sixty-one were paid from $5 to $25, or an average of $13.69 for a sixty-one-hour week, while 97 delivery boys were paid $5 to $12, or an average of $8.01 a week for sixty-one hours.

ON PART TIME

Dealing with part-time employees, witness showed that 127 grocery and meat clerks averaged $17.14 a day and 132 female clerks received $1.66 an hour for a sixty-one-hour week. The hours of these stores in Toronto were from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturdays.

The daily rate for 307 delivery boys ranged from 75 cents to $1.25.

In the Montreal division the hours of work were sixty-two a week. A total of 291 grocery and meat managers received from $15 to $25, plus 1 per cent on weekly sales. The average was $25.01. Of 326 clerks, 324 males were paid from $4 to $25, or an average of $10.53, while seventy females were paid from $5 to $24, or an average of $10.53.

Part-time employees received from 70 cents a day for delivery boys to $1.70 for male grocery and meat clerks.

Store managers signed agreements which permitted the company to discharge without notice.

Employment hours varied, but their average was sixty-one working hours in Toronto and sixty-two in Montreal. Some employees earning $10 a week, however, worked as many as 71 1/2 hours.

YESTERDAY'S HEARING

At yesterday's session, the commission turned to Dominion Stores Limited, the first of the food chains to be reviewed. An auditor stated the company started in 1919 with two stores and at the end of 1933 had 605, with 107 in Montreal alone and invested capital was $20,000,000. Sales when it stood at $4,197,182. Sales jumped from $10,348,233 in 1924 to $23,209,449 in 1931, making a total of 788,367 in 1933, said the auditor.

Seventy-one per cent of the shares of Dominion Stores is owned in the United States and three men, more than any other company, are more than 50 per cent of the Dominion Stores. Smith, president; John B. Jamieson, a director, and W. S. Kies, chairman of the board, have control of voting power through proxies. Auditors said it was apparent that Canada Packers Limited was the largest Canadian shareholder of Dominion Stores Limited, with a block of 7,900 shares out of 282,323.

"So these are the Canadian labor standards we are protecting," exclaimed Sam Factor, Liberal, Toronto West Centre, when details of wages paid by Metropolitan Stores and United Stores were disclosed. Auditors said 75 per cent of Metropolitan employees were on a part-time basis.

Evidence was produced to show that the United Chain, operating fourteen stores in Quebec and one in Ontario (Ottawa), paid very low wages. Taking the organization as a whole, the full-time men were paid $7.34 each a week and 120 women $6.78, said the auditor.

GUN BATTLE
IN DRUG STOREClerk in Vancouver Has Narrow Escape in Fight
With Thugs

Vancouver, Nov. 15.—Frank Libby, twenty-one-year-old drugstore clerk, missed death by inches yesterday evening, when he thwarted an attempted robbery and ended a pair of bandits after a short but hot gun battle in the J. W. Marcus Drugstore at the corner of Heather Street and Sixteenth Avenue.

The bandits fled in a waiting automobile driven by a woman, after firing three times at Libby. One bullet smashed into the wall about six inches from his head, the others going wild. Libby said he did not know any of his three shots took effect.

Libby and Jimmy Robertson, errand boy, were in the prescription department of the store when they heard two men enter. Thinking they were customers, Libby and Robertson waited on them. When the errand boy appeared in the front part of the store, one of the gunmen told him to "go back and get a gun."

ACTED QUICKLY

Libby looked over the top of the small partition which separates the prescription department from the rest of the store, and saw an armed man and a woman. He rushed toward the rear. Seizing his gun, which lay on a shelf nearby, Libby rushed out and fired at the bandits, who turned and ran to the front door. Libby turned to look for the second man and saw him leveling his gun. The second gunman fired three times at Libby, one of the bullets missing the clerk's head. Libby returned the shooting twice, but before he could fire again, the gunman turned and fled to the waiting automobile, where he joined his companion and the woman driver, and the three sped east on Heather Street.

Earlier in the evening three men held up the J. W. Marcus Drugstore, Granville and Fifth Avenue, and escaped with $177 cash.

PLAN APPROVED
BY POULTRYMENFederal Regulations For Testing Poultry Endorsed
By B.C. Breeders

Canadian Press
New Westminster, Nov. 15.—British Columbia poultrymen have approved a provincial flock policy to conform with recent federal regulations for testing poultry for bacillary or white diarrhoea or pullorum, one of the most dreaded poultry diseases.

The meeting approved of veterinarians qualified to carry out blood tests on flocks for export to other provinces without a certificate of exemption from the disease.

Prairie provinces have passed legislation governing control of the disease by blood tests, and at their request, the Dominion Government has passed an order-in-council prohibiting the importation of any birds to these provinces without a certificate of exemption from the disease.

British Columbia, with a large export business in breeding stock and baby chicks, is directly affected. Poultrymen state they were obliged to approve of the regulations to maintain their prairie business.

They claimed, however, the compulsory blood testing of veterinarians would add further costs to the poultrymen, who are stated to be having a hard financial struggle.

Hon. K. C. Macdonald, B.C. Minister of Agriculture, stated he would reject the whole proposal only if it would eliminate the prairie market for a certain section of the industry.

"In fact I doubt very much whether the federal government can make the order-in-council stick, and over-ride provincial 'no-testing' laws," he said.

Thomas Reid, M.P. for New Westminster, declared the poultry industry should be governed by the federal poultry department and not by the department of health of animals, which consists of veterinarians.

FAVOR POLICY
OF EXPANSION

New York, Nov. 15.—The Commission of Inquiry on National Policy in International Economic Relations, a group of United States public officials, business men, economists, farmers, industrialists, bankers and others, says the majority membership advocates expansion of the country's trade rather than a isolationist policy.

The commission, which will soon make public its final report based on a year of study of international trade problems, has held hearings in all major centres of the United States.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace reported to the commission that he favored an internationalistic solution for trade problems and expressed the belief it would be advisable to import $700,000,000 in goods above present levels. He said, however, that a policy of self-contentment was not impossible for the country.

Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, the commission disclosed, favored high tariffs to protect the domestic market. International monetary stability was favored by many, while the gold standard proved more popular than the commodity dollar.

A majority of the speakers dealing with the balance of trade favored a postponement or exchange of debts for trade concessions.

B.N.A. ACT CONFERENCE

Indicating the attitude the government is going to take at an inter-provincial conference to deal with the B.N.A. Act, the speech from the throne contained this significant statement:

"The federal government must withdraw entirely from the field of direct taxation entered into during the war. What the federal government decides to do to improve social services necessary to all Canada, the expense must be borne federally without imposition on the province. Any policy put into effect for the marketing of our wheat should be such as will result in placing our wheat on European markets instead of keeping it stored in Canada."

Very plainly the government indicated its intention to abolish the present civil service commission of three members and to substitute a system that will give the administration control over appointments and dismissals.

Beer by the glass legislation was promised, and the establishment of agriculture "upon the experience of the first generation in their attempt to build permanent homes" was forecast.

As outlined in the Premier's statement, the last twelve months have been a very trying period for the province.

BREAK FORESTALLED

The first occasion the government met the Legislature was when it had been only a few months in office. At that time and later critical conditions threatened to force a serious upheaval, not only within the province, but in its relationship with the federal government. A plan of co-operation was worked out eventually, which left the province in a position to go about cleaning up its own house.

New Cabinet Being Formed in Belgium

Brussels, Nov. 15.—Henri Jaspar, an opponent of currency devaluation, attempted to-day to form a cabinet to succeed that of Count Charles de Broqueville.

If Jaspar is successful in forming a government he will have the backing of the Catholic and Liberal coalition parties, which favor remaining on the gold standard and are vigorously opposed to inflation proposals.

Government Marks
First Anniversary

Dominion conferences, and there is no doubt that the foundation has been laid which will compel the Dominion Government and the provinces to give early consideration to changes in the British North America Act.

"Definite and concrete action has been taken in a number of directions making for improvement in industrial endeavour as well as social welfare, while at the same time we have been gathering information upon the experience of primary importance which will enable us to act with knowledge and without any delay as conditions warrant."

The cabinet marked the anniversary with a special session of brief duration dealing with routine matters.

As outlined in the Premier's statement, the last twelve months have been a very trying period for the province.

The Danish steamship Normansark wrecked as she was imperiled in the Gulf of Albay, in the southeastern Philippines, but did not flash an SOS. Thwarted, of 8,800 tons, she had been loading cargo at Cebu and Iloilo before sailing for New York.

Red Cross relief workers prepared to leave on the first train to-morrow night, apparently the most hard hit of any city in the islands.

The four drowned off Catabogan were lost when the gale overturned the launch. The fifth man was swept out into the ocean, but his fate was not definitely determined.

France Considers
Direct Saar Talks
Not Now Possible

Geneva, Nov. 15 (Canadian Press). The Saar Committee of the Council of the League of Nations to-day ruled the Saar basin territory will pass to the sovereignty of the League of Nations should the population of the Saar vote in January to continue the existing League control.

It was understood the report drawn up on the juridical aspects of the territory, in case the population votes in favor of League control rather than to pass to French sovereignty or return to Germany, will indicate that a vote in favor of the League would change the sovereignty of the territory to the League of Nations.

DEAD MEN ON LIST

The League of Nations to-day received a petition from the "Common Front," a Socialist organization, claiming that 10,000 dead men are listed as voters for the plebiscite. The petition points out the danger of persons holding voting cards issued to men who are dead casting illegal ballots.

The "Common Front" said there was a justification for 90,000 protests of names now on the voting lists.

British Government's Stand on Defence Reiterated By Viscount Hailsham

London, Nov. 15.—The government's attitude on the question of empire defence was reiterated before the House of Lords yesterday by Viscount Hailsham, Secretary for War. Britain was as anxious as any country for disarmament, but in the present situation she could not permit her defence to be weakened to the point where the security of the Empire was threatened, he said.

The war secretary, in replying to Lord Mottistone, who had called for an outline by the government of the country's needs for national empire defence, Lord Mottistone, who as Major-General J. E. B. Seely commanded the Canadian Cavalry Brigade during part of the Great War, had declared the danger from submarine attack to Britain was greater than that of air attack.

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Nov. 15.—A bitter attack on Hungary was made to-day by the semi-official newspaper Vreme, which devoted a whole page to charges that Hungary was not only giving asylum to foreign terrorists and criminals, but was financing them as well.

After indicating the Yugoslav government would air the matter of King Alexander's assassination at the next meeting of the council of the League of Nations, the newspaper summed up what it called "damning and irrefutable evidence to show that Hungary is criminally responsible for the King's murder."

NAVAL TREATY HOPES VOICED

British Officials Still Believe Compromise Possible Among Powers

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 15.—Official quarters to-day continued to express optimism regarding hope of an eventual compromise in the present tri-power naval conference, permitting the holding of a naval conference next year to determine a substitute for the Washington Naval Treaty.

While the Japanese were still awaiting instructions from Tokyo in regard to the British compromise plan that had been submitted, the British and United States delegates held a conference of three and a half hours yesterday, to pick up the loose ends and points not directly related to Japan, according to British circles.

NO PUBLIC STATEMENT
The United States delegates told newspapermen they had been asked by British officials not to discuss the conversations and the secrecy was taken to mean the discussions had led to delicate issues.

The United States delegates seemed to assume the British were divided, with one section seeking to placate Japan at any price and the other standing entirely with the United States, which is firmly opposed to the Japanese demand for naval parity with Britain and the United States.

Authoritative British circles, however, categorically denied the naval talks justified the American impression the British were divided among themselves. According to official British sources, the discussions ended on an optimistic note.

EX-PREMIER WILL LEAD OPPOSITION

Toronto, Nov. 15.—George S. Henry, former Premier, was endorsed as House leader of the Conservative opposition at the forthcoming session of the new Legislature of Ontario by Conservative members in caucus here yesterday. The members recommended that a provincial convention be called immediately after the session to consider party leadership and policy.

Earl K. Hornum, former Conservative member for South Waterloo, had called on Mr. Henry to resign and to summon a convention to choose a new leader. After the caucus yesterday, Mr. Henry declared himself satisfied with the results, and maintained he had "won the fight."

The members also recommended that all Conservative candidates at the June 19 provincial election be summoned into conference with Mr. Henry and his Legislature followers before the session convenes. The conference would be for the purpose of considering party questions and advice to members. Mr. Henry declared this would be accomplished at the earliest and most advantageous opportunity.

FIRE TRAPS FIVE IN EARLY MORNING

Associated Press

New York, Nov. 15.—An early morning fire in a five-story dwelling cost the lives of Henry Russell Browne, retired woolen commission merchant and descendant of an old New England family, his wife, and two servants—a man and a woman—to-day.

A woman, believed to have been Mrs. Browne, screamed first word of the fire from a top floor window about 5:30 o'clock. Flames already were racing up the wooden stairway from the basement, in which the fire apparently started.

REPORT TOTAL OF SWINDLES

Paris, Nov. 15.—France learned in part yesterday just how vast were the swindles of the late Serge Slavyak as new financial scandals threatened to provide major problems for Premier Pierre Etienne Flandin's new government.

A report of the chamber investigating commission revealed that Slavyak, whose activities caused cabinets to crash and Frenchmen to riot madly in Paris streets, unloaded 173,000,000 francs' worth of the notorious Bayonne pawnshop bonds on financial institutions alone.

Figures for the arch swindler's many other ventures, in the course of which hundreds of millions of francs in securities were stolen, have not yet been made public.

Of the 173,000,000 francs' worth of Bayonne bonds, insurance companies held 135,000,000, state social insurance 25,000,000 and a mutual society 13,000,000.

Meanwhile it was revealed that holders of 1,000,000 francs' worth of bonds in the companies of Charles and Joseph Levy, cousins, face the loss of interest payments in the crup of those enterprises.

BIG TAX SUIT

Washington, Nov. 15 (Associated Press).—The United Trust Company of Pittsburgh, known as a Mellon institution, yesterday was charged by the United States government with filing a false and fraudulent income tax return for 1930, in a tax action demanding a $212,355 payment plus a 50 per cent penalty.

BIG MEDICAL CONVENTION

Toronto, Nov. 15 (Canadian Press).—A joint meeting of the Canadian and American medical associations will be held in Atlantic City, N.J., next June. It was announced to-day. It is the first time the U.S. body has invited a foreign association to join its sessions.

Difficulties Too Great For Plan

London, Nov. 15.—The question of compulsory medical certificates for those contemplating marriage was debated in the House of Lords yesterday evening, after Lord Kilmuir had moved that both parties to a proposed marriage be compelled to produce certificates of fitness.

After other speakers had pointed out the difficulties of the problem, Lord Kilmuir withdrew his motion. He had introduced it after referring to the showing here last summer of a film produced in Canada by social hygiene authorities.

TRAGEDY IN FARM SHACK

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Nov. 15.—Three children lost their lives and their parents and a fourth child to-day were in hospital here as a result of a fire which destroyed their farm shack near Alkali, in the Buck Creek district, yesterday.

Two of the children died while a doctor was rushing them over seventy miles of road to Edmonton, and the third died yesterday evening in the hospital.

Those who lost their lives were: Doreen Broulette, four; Gerald Broulette, two; and Donald Broulette, five.

The injured are: Dennis Broulette, seven weeks; J. T. Broulette, thirty-three; Mrs. J. T. Broulette, thirty-three; and the fourth child was expected to recover.

The fire was caused by an explosion of a disintegrator, a tractor fuel tank more inflammable than gasoline, which Broulette had sprinkled on a slough in the kitchen stove early yesterday.

Mrs. Broulette and the children were in bed in the small single room of their log home when fire enveloped the dwelling.

Try To Prevent Deficit Growth

New French Premier Wins Chamber's Support For His Plans

Canadian Press
Paris, Nov. 15.—Premier Pierre Etienne Flandin's efforts to keep the budget deficit down got the support to-day of the Chamber of Deputies, which voted to bar the introduction of private money bills in the 1935 budget.

Only the government and the Chamber finance committee may present such bills in connection with the budget, which it is estimated will show a deficit of between 1,000,000,000 (about $7,500,000) and 3,000,000,000 francs.

The Flandin victory came after his predecessor, the beloved Gaston Doumergue, had slipped quietly out of Paris to return to private life.

Unobserved and unannounced, the seventy-one-year-old former Premier and President at 4 a.m. left the capital, to which he was called last February to save the country from threatened revolution.

Mindful of his appeal to the people to form a "union of peace," M. Doumergue kept secret the hour of his departure so it could not be made an occasion for factional strife.

M. Doumergue resigned on week ago to-day, nine months after assuming the premiership, when he was forced out by the desertion of four Radical-Socialist ministers.

New Treatment To Save Victims

Professor Tells How Electricity Causes Apparent Death

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press, Science Editor

New York, Nov. 15.—Two treatments promising to bring back from death the majority of persons accidentally electrocuted were described by Prof. W. B. Kouwenhoven of Johns Hopkins University, to the New York Electrical Society yesterday evening.

They are based on experiments revealing three kinds of death from electric shock—only one of which is irrevocable. In the other two types, Dr. Kouwenhoven said, "death is only apparent," and these make the majority of accidental electrocutions.

The two treatments are based on seven years' experiments at Johns Hopkins, jointly by the electrical engineering, the medical and hygiene departments.

The electrocution for which there is no remedy comes when the current flows directly through the nerves and brain, destroying nerve cells.

Another form of shock death, which at first is only apparent, affects the lungs. When, for example, contact is made at two points on the same arm or leg, no current reaches the brain. But the nerves themselves set up a series of stimuli of their own. These reach the brain and block the regular nerve dispatching system. Artificial respiration, if prompt enough, brings such persons back to life. It has to be continued until the nerves get over their upset.

HEART AFFECTED

The third form of electric death which is only apparent affects the heart. Experiments had shown, Dr. Kouwenhoven said, that a usually harmless current of one one-tenth of an ampere, when flowing between hands and feet, may produce this heart death.

The technical name for this is fibrillation. The heart is not dead in the least, but the effect is to bring on quick death. Such a heart could be put back into stride by proper medical treatment, he said.

One emergency method of restoring the heart pace, described by Dr. Kouwenhoven, is the "counter shock." This is use of a large current, carrying a shock so heavy it completely stops all heart movement, even fibrillation. The heart resumes synchronized beating.

He is survived by two sisters.

IRISH REPUBLIC MOVE FORESEEN

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 15.—Within a very few months President Eamon de Valera will be in a position to declare an Irish republic—both de jure and de facto, declared John Morgan, professor of constitutional law at London University, at a meeting of Irish Loyalists here yesterday evening.

The meeting passed a resolution calling on the British Government to declare its intentions in regard to "repeated violations" of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

Prof. Morgan said "the so-called treaty" was legally dead. The Dublin Legislature had abolished four of the most important clauses, embodying safeguards vital to maintenance of the British connection. He said Loyalist friends in Ireland had told him German steamers were unloading cargoes at Irish ports with the greatest secrecy, and he would leave his hearers to guess what those cargoes contained.

Education cost the City of London $27,500,000 in the last twelve months.

PROOF GIVEN BY COUNTERFEITER
Associated Press
Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Nov. 15.—His pride of artistry offended when police said such perfect counterfeiters as he had issued could not be made with the materials found on his premises, Dr. Hajzer, arrested for counterfeiting, said he could prove them wrong. Engravings and hand-press were brought into court, and the defendant printed notes which were accepted as equal to any he had passed. He explained that long practice had given him just the right touch with the hand-press.

Bread War Inquiry Urged
Retail Merchants' Association in Winnipeg Asks Manitoba Government Act
Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—Blaming chain stores for conditions in the baking industry which have led to a "bread war" in Winnipeg, a brief submitted by the Retail Merchants' Association was before Premier John Bracken to-day urging immediate action be taken to remedy the situation.

Enforcement of rules and regulations now on the statutes of the labor and health departments, it contended, would do much to alleviate the bakers' troubles and enable independent bakers to remain in business.

The brief referred to an order-in-council passed in Alberta appointing a deputy minister to investigate the Alberta baking industry and the fact that bakers there had submitted a code for approval so they could come under the Trades and Industries Act.

The association charged chain stores would not permit retail shops to sell bread at the same prices the chains quoted, and consistently under-cut prices. As a result, wages in bakeries dropped until "men worked fourteen and sixteen hours daily for as little as $10 a month." Quality of bread likewise suffered and in some instances the bread "was practically unfit for human consumption."

Bread prices yesterday in Winnipeg were as low as two loaves for five cents and reports came from points in the district of drastic cuts in prices.

LETHAL GAS TO GUARD U.S. GOLD
Denver, Col., Nov. 15.—Photography, electricity and lethal gas may guard the gold supply of the United States.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, director of the United States Mint, was here to-day, conferring with Denver Mint officials. At the same time it was learned electrical and mechanical experts had been here several days studying the mint building and vaults.

The mint now contains more than $2,000,000,000 worth of gold.

Among the features under consideration is one which would release poison gas should anyone sink a bit or drill into a wall of the mint vaults. Another mechanism would flash an alarm at a central switchboard within the mint should a person, car or other object come within sixty feet of the building.

A method of photographing every person standing in front of the desk in the mint where old gold is purchased is also being considered.

STOP-AND-GO

THE VALUE OF TRAFFIC SIGNALS TO
 both motorists and pedestrians has been demonstrated in a very special way by the experiment at the intersection of Douglas and Yates Streets, and it is logical to expect that the city authorities will install a really effective system in accordance with the recommendations of Chief Heatley. These recommendations call for a relatively small expenditure which would more than justify itself under many heads. Automatic signals, such as those which are operated in almost every community on the coast which aspires to be something other than a small town, would put an end to the rather absurd spectacle of a police constable blowing a whistle and turning a signal.

The cost of operating automatic signals would be less than that of maintaining policemen at street intersections to turn hand signals. Constables directing traffic could be much better employed in putting a stop to jay-walking. Apart from this public service, the prospects are that during the coming winter they will have enough to do in the general enforcement of law without blowing whistles and operating antiquated signals.

Pedestrians break as many traffic regulations down-town as motorists, and automatic signals with adequate punishment for disregarding them would have upon both a useful educational effect. In time this city would be able to restore its reputation for orderly traffic control which, in recent years, judging by the comments of many visitors, has certainly been sadly impaired. Assuredly, if Victoria attracts as many touring motorists as it is trying to do, and for which, just now, comprehensive preparations are being made, it positively will have to install a traffic control system much more extensive than that which Chief Heatley—who has made a close study of the matter—has recommended. There is no reason why the capital city of British Columbia should not be as up-to-date in this respect as Port Angeles. After all, we are living in 1934, and the motor car is a fixture in modern progress.

EDUCATION

OCCASIONALLY A SMALL VOICE IN
 Canada is heard against the cause and cost of education; but it is a voice which is getting smaller and weaker all the time. A recent speech delivered by Hon. C. M. Weir, British Columbia's Minister of Education, recalled a discussion which took place in the British House of Commons in 1833—one year after the passage of the Reform Act which set in motion the machinery from which Britons derived their precious liberties under many heads—when a grant of £20,000 for the erection of school houses in the more populous centres was under consideration. After a warm debate the vote was passed in an almost empty House by fifty votes to twenty-six. The temper of the opposition in the course of that debate is reflected in the following report of a part of it. It is as follows:

Mr. William Cobbett, the member for Oldham, opposed the grant on the ground that education was not improving the condition of the country. In country districts, he said, the father was a better man and a better laborer than the son. Reports on the table of the House proved, he declared, that men became more and more immoral every year. Then what had become of the benefits of education? Education had been more and more spread; but to what end? "Nothing but to increase the number of schoolmasters and schoolmistresses—the new race of idlers." Crime, too, went on increasing. If so, what reason was there to tax the people for the increase of education? It was nothing but to force education—it was a French—it was a doctrinaire plan, and he should always be opposed to it.

Many changes have taken place in Great Britain in the last hundred years. There may be a few Cobbetts still; but if a member for Oldham—it is now represented in Parliament by two Conservatives—or by any other constituency were to give voice to the House to such sentiments as those of which Mr. William Cobbett delivered himself in 1833, he would be howled down and compelled to say good-bye to his seat by popular acclaim. At the present time, incidentally, the government of Great Britain contributes approximately fifty per cent toward the current cost of education. Compulsory education in Canada, of course, never has been made the object of such denunciation as that indulged in by the irascible Mr. Cobbett. And the few who think that education should be mainly for those who can afford to pay for it comprise the still small hostile voice.

DE VALERA READY TO JUMP?

"Within a very few months President Eamon de Valera will be in a position to declare an Irish Republic—both de jure and de facto."—Mr. John Morgan, professor of Constitutional Law at London University, at a meeting of Irish loyalists in London last night.

THE MEETING IN QUESTION PASSED
 a resolution calling upon the British government to declare its intentions in regard to what it defined as "repeated violations" of the Anglo-Irish Treaty, outstanding among which being the non-payment of the land annuities which led to the tariff war between the United Kingdom and the Free State.

Professor Morgan expressed the view that the treaty was legally dead, that the Dublin legislature had abolished four of its most important clauses embodying safeguards vital to the maintenance of the British connection. He said loyalist friends in Ireland had told him that German steamers were unloading cargoes at Irish ports with the greatest secrecy, and he would leave his hearers to guess what those cargoes contained.

It is hardly likely that many people in Britain will notice any cold shivers running down their backs as a result of the pronouncement of Professor Morgan; but he has called attention to a situation which is fraught with considerable danger to the people of Ireland. What President de Valera intends to do has not yet been made clear. He wants a republic; there is no doubt about that. The point is, is he ready to make the plunge in the face of considerable opposition in the Free State itself, and, of course, the implacable opposition in Ulster?

The Cosgrave and the O'Duffy parties in the Free State do not seem in the mood to cut the painter as far as the Free State's association with Britain is concerned. They naturally would like certain important modifications of the treaty. They would like the land annuities question settled on a basis which would ease the Free State exchequer; it has eased itself, of course, because the payments are not being made. But because they are not being made the tariff war has caused grievous losses to agriculture and industry generally. Britain, too, has lost on the same count. She, however, is much better able to stand it than is the Free State.

If Mr. de Valera should decide on definite action and defy his opponents, and declare the Free State a republic, the question at once would arise as to what the status of those who still desire to retain the British connection would be, what stand they would take if coercion were brought to bear upon them. De Valera's final objective is a united Ireland completely independent—an all-Irish republic. This is impossible as long as Northern Ireland maintains its stand that it will under no circumstances remove itself from the Britannic Commonwealth.

It is scarcely likely that Mr. de Valera will employ force. Should he do so, however, and attempt to subdue Ulster, the position of the British government would be a difficult one. It could hardly sit idly by and watch British subjects exposed to armed attack. On the other hand, if the Free State considers it is in its best interests to set itself up as an independent nation, there is little prospect that Britain would interfere. She probably would content herself by imposing such economic restrictions as would make the De Valera decision as costly as possible.

Professor Morgan's reference to German cargoes may or may not be significant. He implies, of course, that arms form part of most of those cargoes. The course of events in the Free State will be interesting to watch.

GETTING SENSIBLE

THE NEW PREMIER OF FRANCE, M. Flandin, is reported to favor a gradual return to a regime of greater freedom of trade and lessened interference with it.

Mr. Cordell Hull, one of President Roosevelt's chief spokesmen, misses no opportunity to point out that until the world cuts out the economic nationalism it has been adopting in the last few years, and returns to an acceptance of fundamental economic laws, progress toward recovery will be painfully slow.

We notice, too, that when he was in Vancouver the other day, Mr. C. E. Critchley, for the last five years assistant Australian Trade Commissioner in Canada, dropped the hint to British Columbian housewives that they can help themselves by buying Australian goods so that Australia can spend more money in British Columbia and other parts of Canada.

At long last it is once more beginning to be realized that trade is buying and selling. Most of the nations have been trying to fool themselves that they can sell and not buy. Evidently they are now discovering their mistake.

WELL!

THIS DISPATCH FROM PARIS IS INTERESTING from more than one point of view:

"Three airplanes, two bringing guests, the other an orchestra, arrived to-day for the twenty-second birthday party to-night for Barbara Hutton Midvian, five and ten-cent store heiress, who married Alexis Midvian, Georgian prince.

"For the party, Mrs. Midvian ordered her own private cabaret, called 'A Street in Casablanca,' installed in the Ritz. There 150 guests will dance and drink champagne after a gala dinner. The Cafe de Paris orchestra was brought from London for the occasion. It was reported the party would cost $20,000."

There are approximately 28,000,000 idle workers in the world!

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

MORE RUMORS
 The London Free Press

Judge Dupcan Ross of St. Thomas has been named to probe the so-called toll-gate charges. The inquiry should be widened to include rumors of toll-gates since the Hepburn Government came into power.

REVOLVER MENACE
 The Toronto Telegram

Ease with which revolvers may be purchased in Canada has long constituted a danger to the public and served as a powerful aid to criminals in their unlawful pursuits.

A shocking tragedy in Quebec has served to illustrate afresh the folly of permitting either the sale or possession of the deadly pocket weapon. A discharged mail carrier in Quebec, in a fit of rage, shot to death five members of his own family and one of his superiors in his former place of employment.

So long as revolvers are sold and may be owned some are bound to fall into the hands of persons who will use them for the taking of human life.

The revolver really has no rightful place in a civilized community. It serves no good purpose.

While it remains possible for murderers and other criminals and irresponsibles to obtain possession there may be a need for some persons to similarly arm themselves for protection. But if the danger were done away with by an outright ban the need for defence would also disappear.

The revolver menace can be done away with in only one way. That is by complete prohibition of sale and possession, and by a specific statutory requirement of heavy additional penalties for all offences committed with the aid of firearms. It may be said that the police require to be armed in the performance of their duty but even this necessity will no longer exist if criminals cannot equip themselves with pistols.

If guns which can be concealed are allowed to be sold at all they will continue to be used for illegal purposes. And the chief purpose will be murder.

Loose Ends

Victoria leads the way again in the higher sphere of pure intellect—the thinkers can't make our flesh creep with their croakings—and Apple Annie's luxury doesn't last long.

By H. B. W.

VICTORIA LEADS

EVERY day brings some new evidence of Victoria's capacity for deep thought. Just before me now, for example, is that elevating publication Liberty and its page of letters from readers. And what do I find, my friends, in this outpouring of the best thoughts from readers in every part of America? I find that whereas most cities in America haven't been able to get a single letter into Liberty, and only one city has been able to get in two, behold, Victoria has been able to get in three. Yes, in this test of intellectual superiority, our score is the highest on the continent, three times as high as Vancouver and Hollywood and Montreal and Sioux City, Ia., and Atlanta, Ga., and St. Paul, Minn. Why, New York and Chicago don't even score at all.

This shows you how our people here are reading the best current literature and thinking so deeply on it that they must rush forth and write a letter to the editor. And what are our citizens thinking of so deeply these days, my friends? The first writer, who goes under the name of Johanna Witt, writes to say what a wonderful paper Liberty is, being "so all-fired fair" and to state that "The Canadians have behaved splendidly through this very tough period. They have guts."

Johanna, Victoria, salutes a thinker! Baby, that's telling them.

GREAT THOUGHT

THE second thinker is too modest to sign his name, which seems a pity, considering how valuable a thought he has contributed to our current problems. He wishes to inform the snooty Mr. Fraser Hunt, who writes about the Prince of Wales in Liberty, that midshipmen in the British navy are not known as "snooties" but as "snooties." This is important, Mr. Hunt should remember that he can't get away with that kind of a libel on the British navy while Victoria is on guard.

The third thinker writes from Victoria over the signature "E.K." to state that "there is no substitute for mother love" and that "it is sometimes as much a crime to give life as to take it away," and what chance has a baby "without a mother?" That ought to hold America for a while. E.K., you unloaded a wagonful. After these letters, America should know that in sheer intellectual vigor Victoria, as always, leads the way.

BRAVE PEOPLE

WHAT I admire most about our civilization is the calm, imperturbable way it faces the prospect of its own destruction. Indeed, the prediction that our civilization is shortly to be destroyed has become such a commonplace that no one is in the least alarmed by it any more. The old man creaks about it feebly, hoping to make the youngsters flesh creep. The youngsters shrug and take it as a matter of course. So far as I can judge by their communications to me, which are guarded, they regard the prospect of some world-wide collapse and disaster as inevitable, like Christmas or the next general election.

Lying before me, for example, in that same periodical Liberty, I find the opinions of some dozen of the world's leading thinkers. All of them—Lord Robert Cecil, H. L. Mencken, Dean Inge, Austen Chamberlain, Dr. Freud, Newton D. Baker, Havelock Ellis, Heinrich Mann, Theodore Dreiser, and many others—agree that another world war is rapidly approaching and apparently nothing can be done about it. And if it comes, the story of our civilization will be just about over. "For the moment," says Lord Robert Cecil calmly, as one might speak of to-morrow's weather, "we seem to be drifting toward war."

Washington, Nov. 15.—A committee named to co-ordinate all the leading activities of the United States government was starting its task today, following its appointment yesterday by President Roosevelt. The move was interpreted as a start on consolidation of federal agencies with a view to absorbing emergency units as the recovery campaign permits. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau heads the committee.

and war means final destruction of all that we know as civilization. Everywhere men are saying the same thing, until it has become so drab that no one listens any more. People contemplate the downfall of civilization as imperturbably as they look forward to the downfall of the Bennett government, until you would think one was no more alarming than the other.

We are a bold generation. Other generations have looked forward to minor disasters with composure. No generation has looked forward, with composure to the kind of disaster that we anticipate so calmly. Our disasters are becoming bigger and better all the time, but fortunately we are becoming bolder and bolder in facing them.

History, after it is all over and a new civilization has arisen a few thousand years hence, will admire our courage. It won't realize that we talked so glibly about the destruction of civilization because we never understood what the destruction of civilization meant. We never even understood what civilization was about while it lasted. No wonder, history will say, we couldn't keep it going for more than a few hundred years.

APPLE WOMAN

THE NEW YORK TIMES was complaining last week-end that when ever the movies did something really good and lifelike, the public, which is always clamoring for better pictures, wouldn't look at it. The public, said The Times, doesn't want to look at lifelike pictures. It wants them unlikelike, sweet and sticky; so that it can forget about life altogether. Next day the papers carried an obscure item which illustrated the point perfectly.

A year or two ago the movies discovered Helen McCarty of New York. She sold apples on the street corner for a living and they called her "Apple Annie." Some clever mind in Hollywood wrote a movie play around Apple Annie. She became the heroine of the successful picture, "Lady for a Day."

You probably remember it—the story of the apple seller who was wuffed into sudden riches. May Robinson made a rather fine job of the part. In the movies Apple Annie, raised from the gutter, lived happily and in luxury afterwards.

In real life, Mrs. McCarty was given twenty-four hours of luxury by the movie people, kept at a swaggy hotel, dressed in expensive clothes, fed the best food, but only for twenty-four hours.

This week she was asphyxiated in her shabby room with her husband when the gas light blew out. They were buried a couple of days ago in a pauper's grave.

That is what the movie audiences don't want to hear about. That is the true ending which would spoil the box office returns of any picture. That is life from which the public asks only to escape.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

O, GRIEVE NOT
 O, GRIEVE NOT for the lost things,
 Though there are many such;
 They will, deny their power
 To vex you overmuch.
 Though gold slip through your fingers,
 Though fame may pass away,
 Though love be unrequited,
 Let these cloud not your day.
 O, GRIEVE NOT for the light things
 Which you may win again,
 Those things which never brought you
 Imperishable gain.
 Grieve only if there perish
 From out your mind one thought
 Which might have helped a brother,
 One wish in kindness wrought.
 Grieve only if, in passing,
 You leave one deed undone
 That might have aided someone
 To gain his share of sun!

"MONEY TO BURN"

... yet he uses this 25¢
Tooth Paste .. WHY?

YOU'D be surprised what sharp buyers most wealthy men are in little things. That's one of the secrets of their wealth.

Hundreds of the nation's tycoons last season took their ease at Palm Beach, Miami, Nassau, and other millionaires' playgrounds. Their yachts, their horses, their cars, their planes were a brilliant part of the parade of wealth and society.

It was amazing to find how many of such men—and their wives—used Listerine Tooth Paste. Why, with money to burn did they choose this 25¢ dentifrice? Only one answer to that! Results—quick, clean-cut, undeniable.

Direct Cleansing

Listerine Tooth Paste cleanses teeth better than ordinary pastes containing slippery ingredients, says a great dental authority. That is because its cleansing agents come in direct contact with decaying matter on teeth. With the aid of the tooth brush, they get at hard-to-reach crevices and sweep destructive matter away. The teeth are left healthy and shining.

Contrast this thorough action with that of tooth pastes which cover teeth with a slippery barrier over which the tooth brush slides, only partly removing decaying matter beneath. No wonder teeth are dull and dingy!

See and Feel the Difference

You can feel the difference Direct Cleansing makes, the moment you use Listerine Tooth Paste. Your teeth actually feel cleaner when you run your tongue over them. Try it yourself and see. And your mirror tells you that they look cleaner within a few days.

Try It One Week

Why not give Listerine Tooth Paste a trial? Make it prove its results to you. In every way this modern tooth paste is worthy of the quality name it bears. Lambert Pharmaceutical Co.

R. Cull, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and the Boy Scouts. The anthem, "I Will Arise," was then played by the Ladysmith-South Wellington Band, followed by the Last Post, by J. M. Miller. White and green chrysanthemums in cornucopia standards with a wealth of ferns and palms flanked the chandeliers and altar, where ivory cathedral tapers burned in branched white candelabra.

Heightening the all-white effect were the snowy surpluses of the choir and the most brilliant of attendants, the bride and her father, Mr. Charles H. Fraser, by whom she was given in marriage. Singing the "Voice That Breathes Our Even," the choir preceded the entrance up the

Every time you spend entitles you to one chance to calculate the number of beans contained in a sealed jar which is not displayed on your window. This content of skill will be won by the person estimating the number of beans in the jar, or if no correct estimate is given the one most nearly correct will be declared the winner. If more than one correct estimate is received, the one with the least error will be declared the winner. If no correct estimate is received and several estimates are received, then, in a tie for "first place," will decide the matter by calculating the number of beans in another jar.

A plan for better Control of Colds in the home is now made possible by the perfection of a new formula. Vicks Vapo-rol (for noses and throats) and VapoRub (for chests) are preventing colds. Vicks Vapo-rol is the ideal companion to Vicks VapoRub, the modern method of treating colds.

Together with certain simple rules for health, these two preparations form Vicks Plan for better Control of Colds. In two years of clinical tests among 14,702 people, the Plan helped to reduce greatly the number, duration and dangers of colds. Full details of the Plan are in each Vicks package. (Adv.)

CHAPTER XXXVII

Fisher's voice rose belligerently. "Go on! he said. 'Come clean—who was that friend?'"

"All I know," the girl said, "is that it was someone who was called by the name of Frank. Fisher told her, 'You know more than that. Who was that friend?'"

Her eyes refused to meet those of the attorney.

"Who was that friend?" Fisher asked with slow insistence.

She raised her eyes to his, said desperately, "I can tell you this much, but he told me that he would find me and kill me if I ever told anyone."

"Never mind that," Fisher said. "What is it you're going to tell me?"

"I can tell you," she said, "that Frank lived at Riverview."

"That he lived in Riverview?"

"Yes."

"How do you know?"

"Because of the telephone calls."

"A telephone calls?"

"A telephone call that the man put through from my room here in the hotel."

"When did he put it through?"

"Just last night."

"And he called this person in Riverview?"

"Yes."

"Do you know the number?"

"Yes," she said in a voice that was almost inaudible.

"What was that number?"

"The number," she said, "was the number of Mr. Cathay's residence. I took occasion to look it up in the book. Then after I found it out I got frightened. I thought that perhaps it was something that was a lot more serious than I had at first thought. I didn't know what to do. I was commencing to get suspicious of this man."

"He didn't continue to go under the name of Cathay after you found out about the impersonation?"

Fisher asked.

"No," she said in a weak voice.

"What was his name?"

"Malone," she said.

"His first name?"

"Pete."

"Who else did he call besides this Frank? Did he seem to have any other person here in the city that he was reporting to?"

"Yes."

"Who was it?"

"A woman."

"Who was the woman?"

"I think," she said, "it was his wife."

"Her first name was Blanche?"

She gave a sigh, dropped her hands in the chair and put her hands to her face.

The lawyer continued his aggressive cross-examination.

"Where did this woman live?" he asked.

"I don't know," she said.

"None of them," he told her, "or it's going to be just too bad."

understand that had been listening in."

Fisher scowled at her moodily.

"I'm wondering if you're telling the truth about that," he said.

"Yes," she said in a tone of voice that indicated all of the resistance had left her. "I'm telling you the truth about everything now. It does not stand to reason that they'd let me in on their secrets. If they had, I'd probably have been killed by this time."

"And what happened to Pete?" the attorney asked.

"He left. There were some telephone calls that came in late last night and one early this morning, and Pete called Frank at the Cathay residence and said, 'I've done my part of it. Now it's up to you to do yours. Or something like that and then he packed his suitcase.'"

"Now, did these telephone calls take place from your room here?" Fisher asked.

"Some of them did."

"How about the others?"

"They were from other places. Pete didn't seem to want to call from any one telephone too much. We'd be out to dinner in restaurants and he'd put in calls from the restaurants. Or sometimes he'd stop in drug stores and put through the calls."

"Are you holding out anything on us?" asked Fisher. "Is there anything else that you know that you haven't told us?"

"I've told you every single thing," she said, raising her eyes mournfully, "and when Pete finds out he's going to kill me."

"Evidently," Fisher said, "you think that this man, Pete, wouldn't stop at murder?"

"He wouldn't stop at anything," she said.

"Did you keep on with him?"

"I don't know," she said. "There was some fascination that he had for me. I don't know what it was. Something that pulled me to him. It was an attraction at first and after that it was fear."

MARCH BY WEIST

Radio mimics agree that one can simulate another person's voice best when one acts, even though like the subject of the vocal impersonation, and Dwight Weist recently carried this theory to its extreme application when he gave a vocal impersonation of Frederic March, the film star, on the "Forty-five Minutes in Hollywood" programme over the Columbia network. Weist, who normally bears no resemblance whatsoever to the screen actor, is shown above in the make-up he applied to duplicate the face of the famous Frederic.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Problems of premature children seem to abound in this week's mail. Here is a boy of six and one-half who was two months premature. Mrs. G. M. C. writes about him: "His development was gradual, with no setbacks. He walked at two years of age and now runs and plays with other children. But he stumbles often, drags his feet and has a tendency to walk on his toes. He eats alone, but spills his food and gives the appearance of being nervous."

"He has had a thorough physical examination and the doctor says he is not nervous, but lacks muscular co-ordination. He does well in all subjects at school except writing, in which he is very poor. What can be done to correct this condition and what exercises would you advise?"

BABY IS LEFT-HANDED!

"My twenty-month-old baby is left-handed. All articles I have read say not to disturb this, but I am left-handed and it is inconvenient. What could I do at his age?"

It was my thought when I read the first of your letter that your older boy might be left-handed. That

This is what Mrs. Chas. Buchanan of 618 Chester St., Vancouver, B. C., says: "I was always belching gas and had heartburn and I felt tired and nervous most of the time. I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it rid me of the stomach trouble so that I could eat anything without fear of annoyance. All druggists. New size, bottles 50 cts., liquid $1.00. ### LET OLDER ONE USE LEFT HAND

The left handedness should be respected. The chances are both children may inherit from you that alliance between left hand and right side of brain which characterizes the physical makeup of the left-handed person.

It is a mistake to divert this natural flow of impulses from brain to motor centre by forcing the child to make use of the other hand. The usual reaction to such forcing is nervousness, halting or stuttering speech and there might be some connection between this and the older boy's lack of smooth general muscular co-ordination.

At any rate the best methods to follow would seem to be to insure a correct diet, plenty of rest and long hours of sleep. The exercises should be natural ones. Provide some outdoor and indoor play equipment, encouraging to the use of the whole body. We offer a leaflet on "Outdoor

WILL REOPEN CONCENTRATOR

Trail, Nov. 15.—The concentrator of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada Ltd., at Tadoussac, known as "The Old Red Mill," will be placed in operation at once to handle ore from the company's mines at Roseland, which are being operated under lease.

It is anticipated that from seventy-five to eighty-five tons of ore a day will be treated at the concentrator, and that employment will be furnished for nine or ten men.

Too much tonnage had been coming from Roseland to be handled at the smelter, and as a result a large stock pile of ore had been accumulating. With commencement of concentration operations, it is expected that the ore may be handled without the necessity for storage.

BRAINS, TACT AND SMILE LAND TOP JOB FOR GIRL

Washington, Nov. 15.—This is a pleasant little success story about the girl who took the place of the famous "Robbie" in NRA. Her name is Helen Elliott.

Of course there can be only one "Robbie" in an administration, just as there can be but one General Johnson.

Mrs. Elliott is secretary to Chairman Clay Williams of the National Industrial Recovery Board. And that is all.

It is an important job—perhaps the prize secretarial job in Washington. But although Helen has the same inner outside office where Miss Robinson used to handle people who were not quite important enough to see Johnson, she does not make important decisions involving NRA policy.

She is tall, graceful, brown-haired, brown-eyed and perfectly toothed. Good-looking, too. Usually she wears a tailored suit and a bright necktie. Age: About thirty.

She was the first woman employee of NRA and has now outlasted all the earliest settlers. Originally from Fresno, Calif., Mrs. Elliott was with the director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce here when along came the New Deal, and most of the bureau's Hoover Republicans began trying to pass themselves off as Democrats in the hope of holding their jobs.

NRA was only a bill pending in Congress when Johnson and his original assistants, Bobby Straus and John Power, moved into the Commerce Building and began to plot the recovery organization so soon to spread through the building like a great fungus.

They needed a good girl and the bureau contributed Helen Elliott. She was carefully chosen because at that time Secretary Roper was hoping to pile a lot of Commerce people into the still unborn NRA.

The first girl ever to take dictation from Johnson here, she told her friends that night that she had been "scarred to death" by his gruffness and force, even though he said her work was fine.

"Where do you hang out?" the general had demanded, which rather shocked Mrs. Elliott, who was not used to that kind of language.

Word came that Donald Richberg was to be NRA's No. 2 man, and Mrs. Elliott, who had heard a lot about him and his career, decided he would be a swell boss.

She was very simple and direct about going after the job and everybody she talked to thought she was such a nice, sensible, efficient girl that she did not have any trouble at all, even though nearly every girl in town seemed to be after the berth.

Bobby Straus brought Robbie in to take Johnson's dictation and Robbie soon posed him out of the general's inner office.

After that, Robbie, at $6,000 a year salary, kept on making enemies by telling people they could not see General Johnson, and Helen kept on making friends by telling people they could not see Richberg.

She probably is the New Deal's best expert at protecting her Dealers from the public and referring visitors to subordinates. She always seems so sorry that you can not see Mr. Richberg or Mr. Williams that you just want to comfort her and make her feel better about it.

Miss Alice Houlihan came from Richberg's Chicago office to be his personal secretary and went with him to the National Emergency Council, while Mrs. Elliott stayed on to handle his work at NRA.

When the reorganization came, Mrs. Elliott asked Richberg if he would not release her so she could try to get to be secretary to Williams, and Richberg at once told Williams he could not do better than grab Mrs. Elliott. A lot of girls were after that job, too.

You can find her just outside Williams' office—if you can get by the two men who call themselves "receptionists," in the office outside her door.

She lives somewhere out in the country with a seven-year-old son named Billy.

DANDERINE insures your hair for a penny a day.

When you pay a dollar for a wave, Danderine will help you keep it. It isn't a sticky dressing, or an oily tonic, and it doesn't leave any telltale odor. Its fresh fragrance is gone quickly after applying, but not that marvelous effect of freshness and cleanliness!

When you've washed your hair, a little Danderine will keep it from going helter-skelter.

Use a dash of Danderine every day—every time you comb your hair—to be sure of your hair all day long! To know it's clean, and looks clean. To know it will stay as you arranged it. And to know that it's free from dandruff.

That's what moistening your comb with a few drops of Danderine will do. And what no amount of

With all the care you give your hair, it's a pity to omit this last touch that means so much. It's no trouble! ## Movie Star From Aran Pines For Rugged Home

Maggie Durrane, of "Man of Aran" Film, Wishes New Yorkers Looked Happier; Has Had Hard Life

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

New York—A visitor from another world entirely is Maggie Durrane— from a remote, treeless island world where men and women devote long days to the painful gathering from rock crevices of soil enough to plant the bit of potatoes that sustains life in them.

Blue-eyed Maggie, in her coarse woolen frock, her brown hair combed straight back, from her rugged face, so innocent of cosmetics, has come all the way from the Island of Aran More off Galway on the west coast of Ireland for the opening of the picture "Man of Aran," made on the island with her as its woman star.

"There'd be very little profit in it at all, I should think," she said with a shake of the head, viewing the hustle of New York from the window of a tall building. "Oh, I like it," she added dubiously. "But it's happier I wish they could all be looking."

People look and are happier in her island, Maggie declares. Why? She couldn't really say exactly. Men and women love one another and marry and have children and live out their lives on the island, working hard.

You're up in the morning and there's the cottage with its thatched roof to put to rights, the chickens to feed, the cow to milk, the donkey and the goat to be cared for, the potatoes to be planted or picked, the cooking, sewing and weaving to be done, the four children to be looked after.

"With four children, you're always kept going," explains Maggie, who was married at eighteen and now at thirty-two considers herself an old woman.

"Oh, yes, the young people do be having dances sometimes in the evenings," she said, "but not old people like me."

MOVIE MAN BROUGHT LIGHTS

There are no theatres or motion pictures on the island and Maggie had never been off Aran More until she went to London where the sound effects were put into "Man of Aran." She had never seen electric lights until Robert Flaherty, who produced "Man of Aran," built an electric light plant. She lights her house with paraffin lamps. She weaves the cloth for the clothes her family wears, even their stockings, and her husband makes their boots from cowhide.

Maggie Durrane

At home she wears, she says, simply her petticoat and her shawl. Her woolen dress is boughten and fore her, and their father and mother were born, lived and died on Aran More. "Her children go to the island schools and the family speaks the soft Gaelic, as do all the other Islanders. John Durrane, the father of the family, is a cripple. He hurt his back but carrying dirt from the rocks, trying to make a soil on his little place that would grow potatoes for his family and rye for the animals.

Aran More is nine miles long and two miles broad. Twice a week a boat comes over from Galway, and goes back, but it's seldom an islander makes the trip. The potatoes, main staple of the daily diet, are varied sometimes by fish that the men catch, though there are days when the fishing is dangerous, for so tremendous is the surf that waves sometimes leap 300 feet over the island cliffs.

"A woman in our village lost eight sons to the sea," Maggie recounted, her eyes somber, her work-worn hands twisting in her lap.

FLAHERTY AIDED ISLAND

At first, when Robert Flaherty came to their island with his strange machines, the Aran natives "they're a proud people," says Maggie, were suspicious of him and not too friendly. But when they got to know the pleasant stocky fellow, with his hearty ways and his poetic flights of fancy, they grew fond of him.

"Oh, thanks be to God, he did great things for the people of our island," Maggie said earnestly. "The Lord spare him in health for that! As for me, I was never so happy in my life as when I was making that picture. I never was dreaming of such a thing before. And of course, it was not acting we were doing at all. It was just behaving as we do in our daily life."

MISSES HER CHILDREN

Maggie doesn't know when she will be going back to Aran. She hopes that it will be before Christmas, anyway, for there are all the children expecting presents. "Sure, they would be wanting all of New York if I could bring it back to them," she said with a shaky laugh. She misses the children. The baby's only three.

"Man of Aran," the making of which took two years, is the story of a family's fight against the sea. The cast is composed entirely of natives. With Maggie in this country now are the two other chief characters, Colman King and Michael Durrane, aged fifteen. When the three first got here, they stayed at a grand city hotel. But they were so homesick that a place was found for them in an Irish woman's house where they feel more at ease and can have their comfortable cup of strong, black tea in the afternoons.

The Air Conditioned Refrigerator

FULL FAMILY SIZE Air Conditioned REFRIGERATOR COSTS ONLY $59.00

SO NEW, so startlingly different is Coolerator from any refrigerator you have ever known that it changes all your ideas of dependable economical home refrigeration.

Ice cubes in five minutes! No mingling of food odors! No more need to cover dishes! No more drying out of foods! All in a refrigerator that costs only 1/2 to 1/3 of what you'd expect to pay—a refrigerator that 65,500 women already herald as the greatest new advance in the whole field of refrigeration.

Coolerator differs from all other refrigerators because of its patented air conditioning chamber, which washes and humidifies the air and passes it through the food chamber several times each minute. This moist air does not rob food of its own moisture and flavor, but does absorb and carry away food odors.

Coolerator uses ice for its refrigerant, but in a different way than it has ever been used before. For example: one icing lasts from 4 to 7 days. Another: ice melts flat—from bottom of case.

Prove these facts in your own home, with a free ten-day trial of one of the beautiful new 1935 Coolerators.

HOMER MODELS $39.95 and $59.00. There's an air conditioned Coolerator for every budget. Larger models for commercial use. Ask us to explain how Coolerator reduces refrigerating costs.

WELCOME HOME TELEPHONE

"WHAT A CELEBRATION!" said Edgar Gubbling. "We've had our telephone put in again. Naturally, we're rejoicing, and all our neighbors seem happy about it, too.

"We're glad because of the great convenience of having a telephone in the home. I suppose our neighbors are glad for our sake, but I suspect that they're also glad because we won't be running into their homes at all hours to use their telephones. They've been very nice about it, but I'm afraid we've made ourselves a bit of a nuisance."

Popular Stars At Playhouse
Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook Have Leading Roles in "Let's Try Again"

"Let's Try Again" is the title of the picture now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook, stars of "Cavalcade," have the leading roles.

The story is of a surgeon and his wife who have reached that stage in their married life which might be labeled "the danger age to love." It is a crisis that nearly all marriages reach when the first thrill of love vanishes and couples have not as yet adjusted themselves to a calmer and more lasting regard.

In "Let's Try Again," both man and wife turn to other loves in an effort to recapture the ecstasy that they have lost. They separate and plan a divorce, only to discover that their happiness is tied up in each other and that their love is more real, far less burningly passionate, than before.

The dramatic values are skilfully built toward the climax, and a logical solution of a vital situation is set forth.

Diana Wynyard was never more alluringly lovely than in the role of the dissatisfied wife.

QUARTETTE GETS Big Receptions
Press notices acclaiming the Hart House String Quartette as one of the best string quartettes in existence continue to pour in. The latest is one from The Winnipeg Evening Tribune, which says, "Paced with their tremendous task, out Hart House visitors, more than ever before, were revealed as artists whose comprehension of such matchless music was never lacking in the fundamentals of the truly adequate. Their skill and understanding were blended to that requisite point of interpretative effect where, at the moment when the music sprang to its own instantaneous life, one quality could not be separated from the other. The Hart House Quartette were never more welcome here than they were last night. The richness of their achievement was to be measured by the quality of what they strove for. One's tribute to them is the well-considered opinion that they did not reach in vain."

Music lovers in Victoria will welcome the announcement of the re-creation to be given in Victoria at the Empress Hotel, by the Hart House Quartette, assisted by John Hopper, pianist, on the evening of November 19. Tickets for this event are on sale at music stores and the Empress Hotel.

"Peck's Bad Boy" To Open To-morrow
"Peck's Bad Boy" will have its first showing at the Dominion Theatre to-morrow.
This story is delightful in its simplicity and humor. Edward P. Cline, the director, is evidently at home with children, particularly with boys. From Bill's small-town "gang" he derives all the values possible, while from Clive Cooper, the sturdy blonde star of the comedy, he extracts the finest performance of that young actor's career.
Jackie Seale, in another important role, gives a notable performance, as a youngster who takes after his mother. The mother is Dorothy Peterson and she is seen for the first time as a "heavy." She accomplishes the feat with aly, insinuating grace.
Being shown on the same programme will be James Dunn and Alice Faye in "365 Nights in Hollywood."

Mary Astor At The Columbia
Since Mary Astor, featured in "Convention City," the first National comedy now showing at the Columbia Theatre, started work at the studios in July, she has not had even a day off between pictures.
Her first film work of the season was in "The Kennel Murder Case" with William Powell. Even before that finished, she was cast for a part in "The World Changes." Then she was immediately given a part in "Convention City," and before that production was completed, she began work in "Easy To Love." Fortunately, Miss Astor loves to keep busy.
The second feature of this programme is "Sixteen Fathoms Deep," starring Creighton Chan, also another installment of the Buck Jones serial, "The Red Rider."

HARVEST SUPPER HELD
The annual harvest supper of St. Columba Church took place on Thursday last in Strawberry Vale Hall. The tables were appropriately decorated with chrysanthemums and were laden with good things to eat. About 130 people sat down to supper, after which a short musical programme was rendered by St. Matthias Choir. Mrs. Colin Cummins gave several comic recitations, and the evening was brought to a close with community singing.
The members of the W.A. wish to thank all who helped on this occasion and for donations of food and cash given by friends in the district. The next regular meeting of the W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. Huntington.

OPERETTA WILL OPEN TO-NIGHT

Much to Please Audience in "A Country Girl," Opening at the Empire Theatre

All is in readiness for the premiere of Lionel Monckton's musical comedy, "A Country Girl," at the Empire Theatre this evening, commencing promptly at 8:15 o'clock.
Two dress rehearsals, with full orchestra, were held on the stage of the theatre this week and members of the general committee expressed themselves as satisfied with the singing and dancing and the general solo scheme of the many picturesque costumes.
All the old songs of this delightful operetta will be sung again this evening, to-morrow and Saturday evenings. Most music-lovers of Victoria remember the old favorites, that first became popular about twenty-five years ago. Many of these songs will be recalled in this local amateur production. Some of the most popular are "Try Again, Johnnie," "Come Down to Devonshire," "Molly the Marchioness," "The Rajah of Bhong" and "Yo ho, Little Girls."

Full dressed by the large chorus, and the principals, the stage presents a most colorful appearance. Members of the chorus in the first act are attired in country dresses. In the second they appear in the varied assortment common to any fancy-dress ball. The Rajah and Princess of Bhong wear the gorgeous silks and satins and sparkling jewels of the Orient. Geoffrey is smart in an admiral's uniform, and the other principals are all smartly gowned.

Much of the comedy falls to Fraser Lester, in the role of Barry, the eccentric sailor. The scene in which he appears as a woman is extremely clever and is bound to please the audience. His scene with Madame Sophie, played by Margery Benson is extremely good.

Among the guests registered at the Dominion Hotel are: Mr. M. D. McPhee, Vancouver; Mr. H. Bennett, Vancouver; Mr. J. Carlin, Vancouver; Mr. E. P. LaBelle, Vancouver; Mr. N. A. Smart, Vancouver; Mr. Kenneth F. R. Mair, Vancouver; Mr. C. McNaughton, City; Mr. and Mrs. G. Berg, Winnipeg; Mr. Wilcox, Parksville; Mr. D. Wylie, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rowley, Nanaimo.

MAN KILLED IN ODD ACCIDENT

Montague Pusey Dies After
Part of Machine Falls
Down Well on His Head

Suffering from a fractured skull received in an odd accident while he was working, Montague Pusey, forty, died on the way to Rest Haven Sanitarium yesterday.

According to provincial police Mr.
Pusey was working on the A. W. Ayard property on North's Cross Road with George Crooks. They were engaged in digging a well, which had reached a depth of twenty-five feet. A part of a smith's forge which was being used near the top of the hole fell in and struck Mr.
Pusey on the head. Suffering greatly from his injury, he climbed out of the well and walked 100 yards towards Mr. Ayard's car, where he collapsed. Mr. Ayard and
Mr. Crooks placed him in the car to take him to the hospital, but he died before they were able to get him off the property.

An inquest was held this afternoon
at 4 o'clock at the B.C. Funeral Home.

Mr. Pusey was the son of Mr. and
Mrs. Leonard Pusey, 2011 Cameron
Street. He served overseas with the Canadian forces. He is survived by his parents, six sisters and two brothers in Victoria, two sisters in Vancouver and a brother in Butte,
Montana.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

England, she had been a resident of
Victoria for forty-seven years, lately
residing at 819 Esquimalt Road.

She leaves to mourn her loss one
son and three daughters, A. F. H.
Brown, Mrs. E. R. Vandierck and Mrs.
M. A. Murrant, all of Victoria, and Mrs. V. E. Hill of Seattle, four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Thompson Funeral Home, from where

day afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

There has been a fairly good local
demand for cheese during this week,
which is National Cheese Week. Processed cheese in packages is becoming increasingly popular, although Canadian bulk cheese is as far as quantity sold is concerned.

The price of cheese is fairly low,
and has not affected consumption.
The market for fresh eggs has
weakened during the last few days,
but butter prices remain steady.

reached a depth of twenty-five feet.

A part of a smith's forge which was being used near the top of the hole fell in and struck Mr. Pusey on the head. Suffering greatly from his injury, he climbed out of the well and walked 100 yards towards Mr. Ayard's car, where he collapsed. Mr. Ayard and
Mr. Crooks placed him in the car to take him
to the hospital, but he died before they were able to get him off the property.

An inquest was held this afternoon
at 4 o'clock at the B.C. Funeral Home.

Mr. Pusey was the son of Mr. and
Mrs. Leonard Pusey, 2011 Cameron
Street. He served overseas with the Canadian forces. He is survived by his parents, six sisters and two brothers in Victoria, two sisters in Vancouver and a brother in Butte,
Montana.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mrs. Georgina Brown passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday, aged eighty years. A native of Kent,
England, she had been a resident of
Victoria for forty-seven years, lately
residing at 819 Esquimalt Road.

She leaves to mourn her loss one
son and three daughters, A. F. H.
Brown, Mrs. E. R. Vandierck and Mrs.
M. A. Murrant, all of Victoria, and
Mrs. V. E. Hill of Seattle, four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

The remains are resting at the Thompson Funeral Home, from where the funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

There has been a fairly good local
demand for cheese during this week,
which is National Cheese Week. Processed cheese in packages is becoming increasingly popular, although Canadian bulk cheese is as far as
quantity sold is concerned.

The price of cheese is fairly low,
and has not affected consumption.
The market for fresh eggs has
weakened during the last few days,
but butter prices remain steady.

The monthly business meeting of the Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post No. 3, was held in the K. of P. Hall Wednesday evening. Chief Factor Mrs. J. Lorimer was in the chair. A committee was appointed to meet the Native Sons to complete arrangements for a joint party and dance to be held sometime in December. Those appointed to meet the Sons are Misses O. Leavitt, P. Pether-bridge and Mrs. C. Dalziel. Three members were appointed to represent the Native Daughters of British Columbia to discuss plans for May 24 celebration with the city. Members are reminded of the bridge party to be held in this hall Friday, November 16 at 8 o'clock.

The provincial government to-day appointed Judge J. E. Ellis as commissioner of the investigation of tannage of crown fishers in Vancouver as if they were owners.

Mr. Justice A. I. Fisher was mentioned previously for the task but could not accept it.

Following representations made to the government some months ago it was decided the inquiry should cover only Dominion crown lands and not provincial.

NOT SEEKING CIVIC POST

Ex-Mayor A. J. Morley Contradicts Rumor He Will Contest Mayor's Post

Reports to the effect that A. J.
Morley, mayor of Victoria in 1906, 1907, 1910, 1911 and 1913, was "considering entering the civic ring again" for the post of chief magistrate or alderman, were emphatically denied by him to-day.

"No, no, there is no truth in the rumor," he declared when questioned.
To date, Mayor Leeming is the only person who has announced his decision to seek again the post of chief magistrate. One alderman, Walter Luney, has stated he will seek re-election, while Aldermen J. D. Hunter, Andrew McGavin and James Adam will make statements within a week or ten days. The three are expected to state that they will seek re-election as a result of many requests from their friends.

Aspirants for council seats who have come forward to date include
Ed Williams, F. J. Crowhurst and Mrs.
Alice McGregor.

FIVE "S" VACANT
Five seats on the council will be vacant, the four held at present by Aldermen Luney, Hunter, McGavin and Adam, and that left unfilled when Alderman R. T. Williams died.

There are four vacancies on the School Board, including the one-year term left unfilled when the late Trustee
J. M. Campbell passed away. Trustee
P. E. George and W. C. Moresby present incumbents, have stated their intention of running, as has Mrs. D.
L. McLaurin. Magistrate George Jay, chairman of the board, will retire this year.

Kenneth Ferguson is being promi-nently mentioned as another prospective candidate for the educational board.

Lack of funds for an extensive road

Just Another Cruise to Him

Harry Pollard, Photographer, Leaving City to Sail by S. S. Empress of Britain; Has Made Ten
World, Three Mediterranean and Seven West
Indies Cruises

Setting out on a world cruise is just an ordinary event for Harry Pollard, official photographer of The Associated Screen News, and he prepares for it as philosophically as the average man starting out to his daily work.

To-night Mr. Pollard will board the boat for Vancouver, and will make a call at Calgary, which city he calls home when he is not on the move, and will then go on to Montreal to report before embarking on the S.
S. Empress of Britain, which is scheduled to sail from New York January
10 to circumnavigate the globe.

Mr. Pollard's wife and family have become used to his wanderings in far places, and accept the situation as a matter of course. When he drops into Calgary on his way to or from some place, he exclaims after the customary greeting: "Well, folks, what's new?" They reply: "Nothing, Harry.
When are you getting away?"

As he leaves the family says in unison: "Well, so long. We'll be seeing you."

As he is putting a clean collar and a toothbrush into his bag today, and is preparing to turn over the studio at the Empress Hotel to Arthur Pollard, who has just returned after spending a month's holiday in the east with his wife, Harry Pollard explained that he had made ten world cruises, three Mediterranean cruises and seven to the West Indies. His job is to make a pictorial record of the trip.

MORE GOING ON RELIEF

Total For October Higher
Than in September; Cost
Higher Than Last Year

During October twenty-four more family units were added to the number of cases deriving unemployment relief from the city of Victoria. The total for last month was 875 against 851 for September and 883 for October, 1933. The number of single jobless jumped ten from 310 in September to 320 last month. The gross cost of relief in October was $2,625 more than for the corresponding month last year.

These figures were announced today by E. G. Snowden, city relief officer.

The increase marked the first jump this year since February.
The family units take in families, married, transients and widows, and widows with dependents. The single groups include men and women, but do not take into consideration those in camps.

Over a three-year period the October totals drop numerically as follows: Family units, 956 in 1932; 883 in 1933 and 875 in 1934; single approximately 515 in 1932, 504 in 1933
and 520 in 1934.

The total expenditure in Victoria for October was set at $26,601.07 against $25,976.58 for the corresponding month last year.

City Badminton Championships Will Be Decided Dec. 3 to 7

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Drennan Hincks And J. Campbell To Defend Titles

Will Attempt to Repeat Singles Victories; Record Entry List Expected

TWO DIVISIONS FOR YOUNGSTERS

Leading badminton players of the city are tuning up their games in preparation for the annual city championship tournament to be held on the courts at the Willows, December 3 to 7, inclusive. Dates for the title meet were announced to-day. With the entry list of the event growing every year, officials of the Willows and Victoria Clubs, under whose auspices the tournament will be staged, are looking for a record number of competitors next month.

ALL UNKNOWN, as it were, to the new hockey league is ready to be launched on the unsuspecting public. Brooklyn, in fact, is the key to the enterprise, which has apparently been readied by conferences in the dead of the night. The New York Enquirer, which has been inquiring around, has discovered the plan in its secret details. What is classified as a quiet movement towards a new league with Brooklyn, Chicago, Detroit, and New York as the main cities of the organization is uncovered.

According to the story afloat in Brooklyn, which is the city where Casey Stengel, pilot of the Dodgers in the National Baseball League, a group of lawyers and bankers have been at work for four months on the plan. The second week in January there will be a meeting at which plans will be disclosed, it is revealed. In addition to the cities mentioned, the project may take in Cleveland and Buffalo.

Take in is a very apt description at this point. A heavy banking group is mentioned as backers. They belong to the non-expanding bank group, or intact banking interests. In addition, politicians are mentioned with such people in the public eye as Tim Mara and Tom Pendergast, the Kansas City politician, John Ringling the circus man is among those mentioned. In case the circuit runs short of players, he could let loose the elephants. Some of them are reported to be very good in the defense. Only "China" Johnston might sue for infringement of copyright.

Magnates will receive the news of the new league with mild amusement while engrossed in what may be a more serious trouble in the threatened lawsuit at St. Louis. It reminds of the time when Humbert, Pugsley of Brooklyn, a reformed fighter, who was engaged with fair success in promotional work, set himself up in the public prints as the great rival of Tex Rickard. It was in the big money era when Madison Square Garden had just turned hockey to good account. Pugsley went into the promotional game to the extent of quite a few columns.

One day he earnestly sought out Westbrook Pegler, then a sport writing columnist. He expanded as he outlined his plan to the writer. He came to the diagram stage of the interview which followed well behind the desert. Seizing a paper serviette he carefully outlined his plan to the writer. Then along came a waiter who took the evidence, leaving Humbert considerably nonplussed, but none the less successful as far as the plan was concerned.

Germany is to go golf conscious. That is the latest edict from the Nazi regime. The state director of sport has decreed that the game of golf is to be a national pastime. New courses are to be laid down; school children are to be given official instruction and the game is to be treated seriously in the university sports. What is more, army officers are to be encouraged to learn the game as the proudest of golf is a sport befitting an officer and a gentleman.

That sounds all right on paper—perhaps. But how and where are the present great dictators of Germany to be dovetailed into this grandiose scheme? Herr Hitler's pre-eminence as the all-highest for all time is not going to help him on the golf course. The explosive Goering may not find that his dynamic coups will assist to get him out of a deep, sandy bunker, while Goebbels' addresses may not necessarily help him on the golf course. The game must be great leveller, that the novice must begin among the rabbits with the time-honored rule that one cannot quite see how these great ones could adopt the role of the tiger except the first tee, although they might make up for that at the nineteenth.

A completely revised set of boxing rules is to be issued by the Australian National Boxing Club. They will replace the modified Marquis of Queensberry rules hitherto used and will include the "no foul" rule recently introduced in England. Some confusion has existed concerning the "no foul" rule. Actually it means that no fight can be won on a low blow. It is pointed out that if a boxer goes down from a low punch, the referee proceeds to count him out. If he gets up, his opponent loses the round. Another feature of the rules is that if a boxer goes down, gets up at any, the count of two, he may go down again without being punched and yet not be disqualified. The referee will continue to count from where he left off.

All-star Canadian Grid Squad Chosen

By Robert Edgren

The Golden Age! Jack Dempsey's 9 fights as champion or contender drew gates averaging over a million dollars per fight!

Impossible, you say? It so happens that Henry Wadsworth Longfellow is a pretty good end on Northwestern's football team; William Shakespeare is a very good halfback for Notre Dame.

Notre Dame and Northwestern meet Saturday and Mr. Shakespeare is sure to sweep toward Mr. Longfellow's end.

The second Canadian Press Big Four all-stars based on the consensus of coaches and sports writers, reflects the 1934 football trend pretty accurately with five Toronto Argonauts, four Montreal Alouettes, three Tigers and one Ottawa Rough Riders—triple-threat Abe Ilowits. It is a thirteen-man team.

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Toronto, Nov. 15.—"The old man of the mountain" himself, grizzled Brian Timmis, as rough and tough and inspiring in his gruff methods as he ever was, providing direct testimony to-day why Hamilton Tigers are champions of the Big Four and eastern finalists against Bama Imperials. The hard-rock is back on the all-star team.

OPENING ICE GAME IS SET

Vancouver Lions and Seattle Will Open Northwestern Professional League

Vancouver, Nov. 15.—Vancouver Lions will open the 1934-35 Northwest Professional Hockey League schedule at Seattle, on November 23, Guy Patrick, manager of the Vancouver Club, announced yesterday evening. Portland Buckaroos were originally slated to meet the Seattle club in the opening tilt, but Bobbie Rowe, Portland manager, asked for more time to get his club rounded into shape.

Jimmy Arnott, star defence man with Lions last year and now playing for London Tecumsehs in the International League, will play for Vancouver this year or he won't play organized hockey, Patrick declared. Arnott claimed he is a free agent, but Patrick stated he was registered with the N.P.H.L. and the N.H.L. as the property of the Vancouver club.

Walter McCartney, second string left winger with Lions, will perform in a Calgary uniform. McCartney goes to Calgary under the agreement whereby the other clubs of the circuit were allowed to choose a player who was signed with the prairie club last year, in return sending a man to Calgary.

Jimmy Height, Saskatoon Wesleys amateur star, will try out for a place with Lions when they start their official training schedule to-morrow.

Heads of Americans and Madison Square Garden Await Arrival of Calder

New York, Nov. 15.—A flag of truce waved over Broadway and Eighth Avenue to-day as the opposing forces in Gotham's latest hockey war retired to the rear to allow the real ice gladiators to take the stage of combat.

New York Americans and Toronto Maple Leafs open the current National Hockey League season at Madison Square Garden to-night before the customary bumper crowd that trods to the Garden for a review of the Toronto powerhouse.

Meanwhile the business office warriors of the Garden and Americans marked time in their dispute over rink rental contracts and various side issues at the suggestion of president Frank Calder, Montreal. The league head informed the opposing sides he would arrive on the scene of battle next Tuesday.

Mid-week Soccer Elevens Bunched

Leading Hudson's Bay Eleven Held to 2 to 2 Draw By Improving Outer Wharf Rangers; Garrison and Navy Win to Keep Close to Leaders

Four teams are bunched at the top of the Wednesday League Hayward Cup soccer standings as the result of yesterday's games. Hudson's Bay, held to a 2 to 2 draw by the Outer Wharf Rangers, lead the loop by a single point with their opponents of yesterday in a second place tie with the Garrison squad, which downed Spencer's 1 to 0. By blanking Macabees 5 to 0 the Navy improved its hold on fourth berth, one point below the Garrison and the Rangers, and two below the Bays.

Trailing most of the way, the Rangers came through twenty minutes from time to tie up the fixture against the Bays at the Athletic Park. Gordie Rockamp drove in the equalizing tally, the only goal in the second half.

Early in the game Don Fish, Bays' winger, sent in a long shot on Chalmers. The Rangers' custodian batted the ball down in an attempt to save, and Art Carr closed fast to put it between the posts for the opening tally, about five minutes from the start.

Two minutes later the Rangers equalized when White finished a nice rush with a low shot to the corner of the net.

LEAD AT INTERVAL
Eastwood, "Scotty" Gelling and Chalmers played splendid defensive games as the Bays returned on a prolonged attack, but the departmentals finally got through to put Charlie Richardson in a scoring position. He netted the ball after several good attempts had been passed up to put the Hudson's Bay eleven up 2 to 1 at the interval.

The Bays continued to press in the second half, but could not make their attacks count.

After a little more than twenty minutes the Outer Wharf broke fast from a clearance, and Bourne took the ball down the wing. He crossed to Rockamp, who lifted a high shot into the net for the equalizer.

Both teams fought hard for the deciding tally for the remainder of the match, but the final whistle blew without further score.

R. Alcock refereed and the teams follow:

Hudson's Bay—Baxter, Okell, Wyatt, Kennedy, Stevens, Oakman, Fish, Brown, Carr, Richards and Stewart.

Outer Wharf Rangers—Chalmers, Eastwood, "Scotty" Gelling, Belford, Magee, L. Gelling, Rice, Doherty, White, Rockamp and Bourne.

MACABEES SWAMPED
At Heywood Avenue grounds the Macabees continued their string of defeats, bowing before the superior play of the Navy 5 to 0.

Dave Marx opened the scoring for the sailors ten minutes from the start, when he headed the ball past Wilbur in the lodgement's goal.

Tommy Watt added another with a smart shot from a scrimmage in front of the Navy net.

Watt scored again early in the second half, and Walker, playing on the left wing, raised the count 4 to 0 without a return by the Macabees.

Wilf DeCosta wrote final to the scoring when he closed in and banged home a fast one for the fifth naval tally.

P. Shrimpton refereed and the teams follow:

Navy—Caldwell, Whyte, Dovey, McDonald, Robinson, Hibbert, Ben-sallack, Marr, T. Watt, De Costa and Walker.

CLOSE BATTLE
Spencer's battled all the way before bowing to the Garrison 1 to 0 at Work Point in the other game of the day. The Tommies showed better control and team work, but could not demonstrate their best form on the slippery pitch.

Kornay Stevenson turned in a spectacular game between the sticks for the Spencer's boys, while the team worked fairly well with the positions switched.

The one and only goal of the match came ten minutes from the start. "Buss" Evans lifted in a high shot to the corner of the net, and the heavy ball gave Stevenson no chance to save.

Spencer's staged a rally following the score, but Glendenning was safe between the sticks for the Garrison, and the Tommies completed the half on the offensive.

Glendenning saved nicely when Bourne completed a department store rush, and Stevenson was proof

MAKO-BUDGE MAY REPLACE

Californians Figured to Replace Lott and Stofen on U.S. Cup Tennis Squad

New York, Nov. 15.—Defection of George Martin Lott Jr. and Lester Rolfe Stofen, world doubles champions, from the amateur ranks, has not upset United States Davis Cup plans or weakened the confidence of Walter Merrill Hall, president of the Lawn Tennis Association, in the country's chances of giving England a brisk challenge in 1935.

Loss of the world doubles-champions may be considered generally as a distinct setback inasmuch as they scored the only United States point in the challenge round last summer, but Hall said it did not constitute a serious blow.

"For the singles we have got a pair of seasoned and reliable internationalists in Wilmer Allison and Sidney H. Wood Jr.," he said. "Of course, it's pretty early to forecast what will happen in June, but for the doubles there is Donald Budge and Gene Mako of the Pacific Coast. This pair, I would say, shows promise of surpassing the greatness of Lott and Stofen as a team."

Burnetts, Dealats And Lake Hill Win

Girls' Team Springs Surprise to Defeat Cardinals; Others Gain Victories By Easy Margins

Defeating their opponents, the Cardinals, by a 22 to 19 score, Burnetts, Dealats and Lake Hill turned on the "beat" at the outset of the second half, and baskets by the Mitchell brothers and M. Atkinson sent them out in front by nine points. Tillcum took time out and ran in Nord, who immediately cut the lead on a free throw. Two baskets in quick succession by Bradley and Hill cut further into Lake Hill's lead, and made the score 25 to 21. Buddy Mitchell ran this up to 28 to 21. Becoming badly disorganized, Tillcum found themselves trailing 35 to 23, with time almost up. A last desperate rally netted them four points, but the visitors had already won the game, 35 to 27.

Buddy Mitchell with twelve points and M. Atkinson with nine points were in fine shooting form for the winners. Bradley, Tillcum's right forward, was a source of worry to his opponents all night, and collected eleven points.

Cardinals—Hannon T. Trotter, C. Crosby, A. Finch, Hall, Gaunt, Wells, Lewis, J. O'Connor. Total 19.

Peden Fourth In Cleveland Race

Victoria Bike Rider and Two Partners Audy and LePage Two Laps Behind Winning Combination of Kilian-Vopel-Meithe; Rebboli and Martinetti Lead at Chicago

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 15.—In a stirring finish, the German team of Gus Kilian, Heinz Vopel and Werner Meithe won the six-day bicycle race here on points, early today. A British team consisting of Reggie Fielding of Toronto, Al Crossley of England, and Saver Van Slambrouck, transferred from a Belgian team which withdrew, was tied in laps with the winners, but placed second because of a 1.31 deficiency in points awarded in sprints.

In third place, one lap behind, was the United States team of Charlie Winter, Tommy Walthour and Freddie Sech. The Canadian team of Torchy Peden, Jules Audy and Henri LePage finished fourth, two laps behind the leaders. Piet Van Kempen and Ernst Muller, who tried to ride the last two and one-half hours as a two-man team, following the withdrawal of Joe Clignet, who was injured, finished last.

Football Match Was "Stark War"

London, Nov. 15.—"It was not a football match; it was stark war," commented one of the critics yesterday evening of the international soccer battle in which England defeated Italy by 3 to 2 yesterday afternoon.

Hapgood, of the Arsenal, the English captain, attended an evening dinner with the bridge of his nose stitched where a bone was broken. Nearly all the English players were injured. Brook, Manchester City, had his arm X-rayed; Bowden, Arsenal, had a badly damaged ankle, and one of Drake's legs, according to a member of the English team, was "cut to ribbons."

The Italians did not escape scot-free either. Minto, fleet halfback, forced out at half-time, had a crushed toe and was unable to attend the dinner. Ceresoli, their brilliant goalie, was hurt in the groin. Several Englishmen, who had objected to allegedly questionable tactics by the invaders, said it was a battle, not a football game.

Al Ritchie To Go With Pats

Regina, Nov. 15.—When the famous Pats, junior hockey team, leave Regina later in the month for a tour of the United States centres, they will have the equally famous sports coach, Al Ritchie, as mentor.

SARAZEN IS OUT ON TOP

U.S. Pro Has Brilliant 69 in First Round of Melbourne Centenary Golf

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 15.—Led by Gene Sarazen, who barely missed equaling the metropolitan course record with a sizzling 69, six professionals from the United States placed among the leading eight scorers to-day in the opening round of the seventy-two hole Melbourne centenary open golf championship.

Harry Cooper and Joe Esar, both of the United States, tied for second place with 70's.

Joe Kirkwood's 71 tied E. Malmith, Victoria professional, while Leo Diegel, Jack Thompson and V. S. Richardson, New South Wales, were in a three-way deadlock at 72.

Ky Laffoon tied four others with a 75, and Densmore Shute and Paul Bunzary both recorded 74's.

FIVE OFF PACE
Sarazen would have tied the record of 68 for the 6,504 yard course but for a missed six-foot putt on the seventeenth. As it was, however, he clipped five strokes off par 74 and got away to a fine start toward the $5,000 first prize. Second place is worth $2,000.

The leading sixty scorers after the second round will be eligible for the final thirty-six holes.

Jack McLean led a team of four amateurs with a 75. Leslie Garnett shot a 76, T. A. Bourne, 79, and the Hon. Michael Scott an 81.

The present tournament and team matches will keep the players in Melbourne until Nov. 24.

Cy Moore Bought By Baltimore Orioles

Philadelphia, Nov. 15.—The Phillies yesterday sold Austin "Cy" Moore, right-handed pitcher formerly with Brooklyn, to Baltimore Orioles of the International League, and took on three new players.

The rookies are Keith Parks, right-hand hurler from Pennsylvania State College; Art Bramall, an infielder with some minor league background, and John Androski, who served in the Middle Atlantic League for one year as a catcher.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX--Does a person ever quite get over his first love even if he knows that it is hopeless? Does a man ever fall in love so completely again as he did the first time. If he marries a second love, will he be as happy as he was in his first? What do you think of first love? MISS A.

Answer: I think that first love is of the stuff of which dreams are made and that it is just as beautiful and unobtainable as dreams are. We romanticize it and exaggerate it just as we do everything concerning our youth, and it is on a par with thinking that our school days were our happiest days and that apples now do not have the flavor they used to have when we were hungry youngsters.

Of course, sometimes first love endures and there are cases where men and women marry their first sweethearts, but this does not often happen. Most men and women have thought themselves in love a dozen times before they ever experienced a real case of the grand passion. The truth is that boys and girls in their adolescent state are in love with love and so overflowing with sentiment that they fancy themselves in love with any one of the opposite sex who happens to be near enough for them to hang their affections upon temporarily.

But calf love is as subject to change as a taste in chocolate creams or neckties. Hence the boy that a girl was crazy about one year she will not look at the next, and the girl that a boy was sure was his predestined mate one season bores him to tears the next.

Unfortunately, frequently boys and girls get married while they are still under the delusion of their first romantic attachment, and divorce statistics show how fleeting is youthful romance and what a broken road it is to lead upon the long, hard matrimonial journey.

As for a man getting over his first love, there is nothing from which he recovers so completely. Of course, in the back of his mind a certain glamour may hang around the memory of his first sweetheart, but let him but meet her again after a lapse of years and he is filled with wonder at what he could possibly have seen in her that caught his immature fancy.

First love is more or less like the mumps or the measles, or the other ailments incident to our childhood. Sometimes they are fatal or leave a chronic weakness of the heart, but for the most part they are but passing attacks of which we are completely cured and which we forget. Not many of us can even recall the names of our early flames.

Real love is an experience that belongs to maturity; not to our salad days. It is only after we are grown-up men and women and know the needs of our own natures that we are capable of the love that can break our hearts if it is unreturned and that endures for a lifetime.

Whether a man will be happier if he marries his second love than he would if he married his first depends entirely upon the woman and which one would be the most congenial to him. Possibly the first love might have been his predestined mate, but it is more likely to have been the second, because generally a boy's first love is his teacher or some woman old enough to be his mother.

First love is a beautiful theme for the poet, but in real life it is a snare and a delusion from which most of us are mercifully saved by a beneficent Providence. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX--Why do men expect the "I love you's" they say before marriage to last a woman the balance of her life? I have been married ten years to a man who is good and kind and faithful to me, but since our wedding day he has never told me he loved me. One time I asked him if he did and he said: "Of course, I do. Why do you suppose I married you?" I am starved for affection and feel as if I cannot live without it. Do all men drop their courtship at the altar? And is that the price a woman pays for a home and children? F.O.B.

Answer: I get thousands of letters like this from women who have good homes, lovely children, husbands who lavish upon them everything in the world they want except a little petting and a few words of appreciation and affection.

And as I read these letters I never know which I think have less intelligence--the wives who make themselves miserable over a puny imaginary wrong, or the husbands who know that they could make their wives happy by a kiss or a word and who are too dumb to give it.

For these women in their hearts know that their husbands love them even if they never mention the fact. They know that no man stays faithful to his wife unless he prefers her to all other women. They know that the man who spends his evenings at home does so because he finds his own fireside the pleasantest spot on earth. They know that the man who tells early and late to keep his wife soft and warm, to give her pretty clothes, and care and trips and every luxury is giving her a proof of devotion that is worth all the high-flown love talk in the world.

And why any intelligent woman can not satisfy herself with that knowledge and rest assured of her husband's love, why she needs to have him make a fuss over everything she does and tell her that she is the most beautiful creature on earth, why she can not realize that actions speak louder than words, nobody knows.

But there are innumerable women who lack this philosophical view of their husbands and who torture themselves with doubts of their husband's love unless they are continually being told of the state of their affections. They starve for compliments as one might for sugar, and it either makes them sour and disgruntled, or else they seek the love-making outside of the home that they do not get within it.

And why, when husbands know this, when they know they can make their wives happy with a little jollying, they withhold it, nobody can explain any more than they can why the wives have to be jolled in order to be happy. It is just one of the mysteries of marriage, but if husbands would only make it a rule and a part of their daily dozen to begin the day by telling their wives that they love them and that they are the marvels of creation, it would set the sun in many a disgruntled wife's Heaven and make her feel that all is well with the world. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX--A business man in his early fifties and a business woman of forty are very much in love with each other and are considering marriage. Is the difference in their age an obstacle? H.F.

Answer: Certainly not. They are practically in the same age class, since women age more quickly than men do. The only disparity in age that should count in marriage is when people are very young. Then fifteen or twenty years makes a great gulf between them and they are separated by different traditions, ideals and points of view, but after they are in their thirties or forties they are mature. Their tastes are settled. They know what they want in a husband or wife and the matter of a few additional years one way or the other is negligible. DOROTHY DIX.

UNCLE WIGGLY BUYS A HAT

By HOWARD E. GARIS

Uncle Wiggly twinkled his pink nose that he loved her and then he said: "Don't you want to come for a hop with me, my dear?"

"Where are you going, Wiggly?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"To look for adventures," he answered.

"What's the matter with this hat?" asked the rabbit gentleman, taking it off to look at it. "It's a very good hat." It was a tall, silk hat, like a piece of the stovepipe.

"It may have been a good hat once," said the lady rabbit with a laugh. "But now it looks like something left out in the rain and water and dirt and the shine was mostly gone and the silk was battered and torn and dented and just as when you rub the cat's back the wrong way, though you should never do this. It isn't polite or nice. I'll soon be back."

"I couldn't go hopping with you in a hat like that," said Mrs. Longears. "If you want me to go adventuring with you, get a new hat."

"I will!" said Mr. Longears. "I have been thinking about buying a new hat quite a while. Now I'll hop to the store and get it. Wait here for me. I'll soon be back."

"All right," said Mrs. Longears. "But get a good hat."

"I'll get a tall one like this," said the rabbit gentleman. "This has been a good hat to me. It has been with me on many adventures."

"Yes, it has!" laughed his wife. "You have used it for a pail to carry water in, you have used it to gather nuts for, and squirrel boys and once you even let Baby Bunny sleep in it. Another time you let Jackie and Fannie Bow Wow use it for a football."

"Yes, yes! So I did," said Uncle Wiggly. "No wonder I need to buy a new hat!"

So he hopped away to the hat store. He remembered once, when he had a new straw hat an elephant blew a hole in it. But then the kind elephant rode the Uncle Wiggly on his back to buy a new hat.

The rabbit gentleman wasn't riding on an elephant now, but he was soon at the hat store, kept by an old dog gentleman.

"Do you have come for another new hat have you, Mr. Longears?" barked the dog gentleman. "What kind do you want?"

"A tall silk one like this old hat," said Uncle Wiggly. "My wife likes this hat."

"I'm sorry," barked the dog storekeeper. "But I can make you just as good. Let me quickly when he saw how disappointed the rabbit looked.

"How?" asked Mr. Longears. "Let me see you make a hat for me."

"That is easy," barked the dog. He took a large rubber boot and cut a piece out of the leg so that it looked like part of the stovepipe. Then he cut out another piece of the rubber boot and fastened it on for a top. "There you are!" barked the dog to the bunny. "You have a rubber hat hat and now you know how much rain falls it won't hurt your hat!"

"That's fine!" said Uncle Wiggly. So he bought the rubber boot hat, put it on and started to hop home. On the way the Skeezicks, a very bad Chap, saw the bunny gentleman in the woods at all. "I'll throw stones at Uncle Wiggly's tall hat and knock it off his head!" barked the Skeezicks. "He will be so surprised I can knock him!" The Skeezicks threw a big stone. It hit Uncle Wiggly's rubber hat, made from a boot. And then, without hurting the hat or the bunny at all, the stone bounced back off the rubber and hit the Skeezicks in the nose and he ran away howling and yowling and howling.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Mr. Longears. "It's a good thing I had a rubber hat!" And if the coffee grinder will play tag with the egg beater, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly finding some more hats.
